Area Man Killed, 9 Hurt; Monroe Woman Included

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (Special) — A two-car collision on U. S. 65 eleven miles south of here late yesterday killed a Bonita, La., man and hospitalized his wife, two children, and a Monroe woman along with four other persons.

Arkansas State Policeman Max Brown identified the dead man as Frank F. Fuller, 40.

Sailing Yacht Skipped By Actor Overdue

TOKYO (AP)—A sailing yacht skipped by Hollywood actor John Calvert was overdue here Sunday on an 800-mile cruise over the East China Sea from Formosa. Seven other persons were reported on board.

A craft similar to Calvert's 35-ton, two-masted Thespian of Los Angeles was sighted Friday drifting only 80 miles southeast of Shanghai, on the Red Chinese coast.

Calvert, a former stage magician, who played "The Falcon" on television, set sail in bad weather from the Formosa port of Keelung last Monday, expecting to make Hakata on the southern Japanese island of Kyushu in three days. He left behind his wife, actress Ann Cornell, and their son born 15 days ago in Taipei, Formosa. The mother and son did not make the trip because the baby was ill.

The Coast Guard in Tokyo said it has alerted all Japanese fishing vessels in East China Sea to be on the lookout for Calvert's yacht. The Coast Guard is prepared to launch a search if one is necessary but officials said it was possible Calvert was slowed down by the weather and would turn up safely.

On board when the yacht left Keelung were Calvert's mother-in-law, Mrs. Constance Conrad Love; a Mr. and Mrs. Iverson, reported to be from California; two young American boys, whose names were not immediately available, and two Chinese.

Calvert, his wife and mother-in-law set sail from Los Angeles last Aug. 7 on a two-year cruise around the world with stops for television filming and stage shows at various ports.

Minniejean's Father Kills Man, Cops Say

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The father of Minniejean Brown, Negro girl expelled earlier this year from Central High School, shot and killed a man early Sunday, police reported.

Detective Sats. Lester Cranford and Clint McMurry said Willie Bob Brown, about 50, admitted the slaying of Elmer Isaac, a 60-year-old Negro.

Brown was jailed here on an open charge for investigation. Cranford and McMurry reported that Isaac was struck by three bullets from a .45-caliber revolver about 7 a.m. in front of a private club. They said they found a .32-caliber automatic, with safety still on, beneath the body.

Officer E. J. McDaniel, a Negro policeman, said he heard shots and then saw Brown climb into a car with a revolver in his hand. McDaniel said he followed Brown in his own personal car, stopped him and made the arrest several blocks from the scene of the shooting.

1 Killed, 20 Hurt In Wreck

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—The driver of an open-bed truck carrying 21 persons fell asleep about dawn Sunday. The vehicle plunged down a bank, killing one and injuring 20, mostly children.

The dead man was identified as Raymond Williams, 21, of Stanley, N. C.

Rural police said the truck was returning from Clarksville, Ga., where the children of three inter-related families had been visiting relatives for a week.

Bossier City Man Is Named La. VFW Head

Printice Darnell of Bossier City was named commander of the Louisiana Veterans of Foreign Wars as the organization closed its 28th Annual Encampment here yesterday.

Darnell succeeds Charles J. Perilloux who served as commander for the past year.

Other officers named were Pat Carr, Metairie, senior vice-commander; and Henry Riser, Ruston, junior vice-commander. The Rev. William Preston Crews, Leesville, will continue as department chaplain and E. J. Adams, Baton Rouge, retained his office of adjutant-quartermaster.

The VFW selected New Orleans as the site of its encampment in June 1959.

Over 600 VFW and Auxiliary members flocked to Monroe for the three-day event which started Friday.

The first day's events were highlighted with reports of various committees and departmental officers.

Saturday night's program included a banquet at which Cooper T. Holt, past national commander-in-chief from Chattanooga, Tenn., delivered a verbal attack on communism and commended the Louisiana VFW for its accomplishments.

The election and installation of officers for the state department of the VFW capped the encampment which ended about 2 p.m.

VFW members complimented the Rodney J. Hobbs Post 1809, Monroe, for their preparations in hosting this year's convention.

China Battle Erupts Again

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops on a tiny Matsu island fought a 10½-hour artillery duel with Red Chinese forces on the mainland Sunday. It was the heaviest battle in months.

The artillery barrage opened up after Nationalist warships attacked and sank two Communist patrol boats off the Matsus, the Nationalists said.

A Defense Ministry announcement said Nationalist guns silenced the Red shore batteries after 540 Communist shells landed on or near Kaoteng, an island off the China coast.

No mention was made of casualties.

Mapping Of Ocean Floor By Reds Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians were reported Sunday to be mapping the ocean floor off North America in a massive operation so Soviet nuclear submarines could sneak up to U.S. shores without surfacing.

U.S. News & World Report, in a copyrighted article dated London, quoted Western Intelligence officials as giving that explanation for the recent increase in sightings of unidentified submarines near American waters and for six Soviet trawlers anchored for months off the Canadian coast. The magazine did not identify the officials.

2nd Hearing On 66 Of LSU Faculty Told

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

BATON ROUGE — A second investigative hearing on LSU faculty members who signed a petition opposing eight segregation bills may be held this week behind closed doors, Sen. W. M. Rainach of Homer disclosed Sunday night.

"Frankly speaking," Rainach declared, "we've got our hands full. We can't whitewash this thing at the same time, we've got to go on through with it."

Rainach, chairman of a joint committee appointed to check on 66 university faculty members, said a heavy work load will stall the second hearing until possibly late in the week.

"We may hold an executive session, since we will be going into the records of the people involved," he stated.

Opposition Rainach's segregation bills met opposition through a petition signed by 600 persons, including the 66 LSU faculty members. The bills are in the Senate awaiting a floor vote.

Touching on the national prominence paid to the investigation Rainach said "After all we didn't stir it up, the 66 men who signed the petition did, besides, the House voted to conduct the investigation."

The investigation was called for by a 70-0 vote in the House after two LSU faculty members testified at a hearing against Rainach's bill.

General Troy H. Middleton, LSU president and his deans later appeared before the joint committee. Middleton said to his knowledge LSU has no faculty members teaching anti-segregation views.

Since then, the investigation has received considerable attention in the nation's press. The LSU student newspaper, the Reveille, has voiced editorial criticism of the investigation.

Rainach's bills, which will allow the governor to close the schools in cases of integration, were opposed by a group of ministers from Baton Rouge and New Orleans in addition to at least one Tulane professor, at a Senate hearing last week.

Treatment Of Blood Disease Advance Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Unexpected new beneficial results in the treatment of blood vessel disease by feeding patients large amounts of vegetable fats were announced Sunday by a veteran researcher in dietary medicine.

Many patients who had been unable to walk because of this trouble have returned to full activity, said Dr. Laurence W. Kinsey, of Oakland, Calif. Dr. Kinsey addressed a meeting of the American Diabetes Assn.

Also some diabetics whose blood vessel deterioration has damaged their kidney and affected their eyes have improved considerably under this dietary schedule, he reported. However, he said he could not tell yet whether the diet treatment alone was responsible.

But the fat compounds in their blood stream returned to or toward normal, Dr. Kinsey said. This may mean their kidney and eye trouble is a result of a long-standing deficiency in essential fatty acids which have brought about changes in cell structure, he added. If so, he said, it may be possible to correct the cell abnormalities with the proper use of vegetable fats.

Dr. Kinsey and others have been noting for several years that the essential or unsaturated fatty acids in vegetable oils can dissolve or clean out patches of protein-fat compounds which form on the inner walls of blood vessels. These protein-fat patches can cause them to harden or even close.

Possible Rain Forecast Today

Monroe area residents who enjoyed yesterday's cloudy and relatively cool weather may need raincoats today.

The weatherman said that scattered thundershowers are expected across the state today, particularly in the south portions.

Temperatures here yesterday ranged from 70 to 80 degrees with the sun peeping out for a while later in the afternoon.

25 Years Of Service Is Recognized

Twenty-five years of "service to God, serving Him at the altar, serving Him by glorifying Him, serving Him by caring for God's children" were recognized last night at a testimonial banquet given for Father Dennis A. Curren, on his 25th anniversary as a priest.

More than 350 persons attended the 7:30 p.m. event in the Progressive Men's Club, at which tribute was given to the pastor of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church.

The Most Rev. Charles P. Greco, Bishop of Alexandria, described the service which Father Curren has rendered to God. He pointed to the Rev. Curren's "amable ways and forceful eloquence which have joined many persons to God."

Tribute "God honors a priest by making him His own instrument of good" Bishop Greco stated, adding that he was overjoyed "by the magnificent tribute paid to Father Curren" by members of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths.

Quachita Parish Sheriff Bailey Grant, who served as master of ceremonies, introduced Bishop Greco, Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, the Right Rev. Msgr. John C. Marsh, the Rev. David Dabris, former Gov. James A. Noe and Tony Lewis who served as chairman of the banquet, all of whom noted Father Curren's many contributions to the people of Monroe since his arrival here in 1945.

"We all know the wonderful work Father Curren has done and the many friends he has made here. He is a wonderful man, a brilliant person, and has had a very great influence in the community," Mayor Howard stated.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Marsh called Father Curren's great sense of humor to the audience's attention.

"Tonight offers a fine tribute to a man who has made his mark on the community," he said.

10 Injured In Train Wreck

THURMOND, W. Va. (AP)—A westbound Chesapeake and Ohio freight train rammed the rear of a halted luxury passenger train early Sunday injuring 10 persons, one seriously.

Rescuers spent 1½ hours cutting through twisted metal to free H. W. Honaker of Hinton, the engineer of the freight and the most seriously hurt, from his wrecked cab. Honaker's legs were crushed, a C&O spokesman said.

Three other crew members and six passengers also required hospital treatment. The spokesman said most of them escaped serious injury.

A C&O spokesman at Richmond, Va., said a mechanical failure prevented the engineer of the freight from stopping it before it ploughed into the passenger train. The accident occurred at 1:15 a.m. shortly after the passenger train George Washington pulled into Thurmond station, about 50 miles east of Charleston.

IN LA. HOUSE Ruston Hospital Move Is Defeated

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

BATON ROUGE — South Louisiana legislators Sunday night turned back a move to convert the Ruston Tuberculosis Hospital into a rehabilitation institution for alcoholics after an argument occurred over the drinking habits of north Louisianians.

Rep. L. D. Napper, Ruston, and Rep. T. T. Fields, Farmville, led the losing battle to change the institution to the Louisiana Rehabilitation Hospital for alcoholics.

But Fields, following defeat of the bill, changed his vote in order to bring it up for a second consideration when the House convenes Monday.

With 51 votes required for passage, the bill was turned down 47-53, Fields said. "If the House defeats it Monday, the Ruston institution will 'grow up in weeds,'" he explained.

Project Launched Napper told the House that the project was launched on recommendations from the State Board of Hospitals, but south Louisiana delegates fought it on grounds it would be creating a new hospital.

They also argued that north Louisiana is dry, therefore an alcoholic institution should be located in south Louisiana.

But Fields countered as follows: "Let me tell you something, in these dry parishes, you actually don't see the drinking out in the bars, but I'll bet you that per capita there is as much drinking going on in Bienville, Lincoln, and Union as in any parish in south Louisiana."

"They're home drinkers," Fields charged. "Why they go down there to Monroe and buy a pint of wine for 35 cents and come back to Union and bootleg it for a dollar."

Fists Fly At Meet Of Demos In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Former Executive Councilor Endicott Peabody Sunday accused supporters of City Councilor Edward J. McCormack of trying to buy or steal the party endorsement for attorney general at a fist-swinging Democratic state convention.

McCormack immediately denied the charges and described Peabody's accusations as the most vicious he had ever heard.

No injuries were reported during the outburst. Peabody said in a statement that the noisy convention "broke up when McCormack forces were caught trying to steal it," or "buy it."

"Throughout the convention and increasingly so during the final ballot several McCormack delegates were openly voting empty seats as delegates," Peabody said. McCormack is a nephew of Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass), House majority leader, and Peabody is the son of the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, a Protestant Episcopal bishop of Central New York.

Senate Says Pay As Long As It Lasts

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The Senate Sunday night passed 23-14 and sent to the House Sen. F. E. Cole's bill to pay school teachers at their present level as long as the money lasts, then close Louisiana's public schools.

The final vote came after Gov. Earl Long's leaders defeated 18-17 a move by Sen. Farrell Blanchard of Donaldsonville to return the bill to the calendar.

"This is one of the most momentous bills to appear before the Legislature," said Blanchard. "I want to study it further."

The measure refers to a 1956 salary schedule which has been paid at 50 per cent level for two years but is left out of the new budget.

A one cent increase in the natural gas gathering tax falls 12 to 14 million dollars short of providing enough money.

Sen. C. H. Downs of Alexandria, Long floor leader, said "If you don't take this step, there will be more confusion in September than there is now."

"If the tide lands money comes in, you have nothing to worry about. The teachers salaries will be paid."

"If the money doesn't come in, you'll have to come back here to provide funds for it anyway," Downs said, snapping warring Long supporters into line for the bill.

Earlier, Downs opposed an amendment by Cole which would have included the State Department of Education in the bill. It was defeated 4-23.

Downs said, "The budget committee worked all these weeks, to cut the department of education. This would permit the department to continue as it is now and discriminate against other state agencies."

Downs was a member of the governor's budget committee which heavily slashed Education Dept. Shelby Jackson's operating budget.

Downs then offered substitute amendments to clarify the wording of the bill, which were adopted 22-12.

Under questioning, Cole admitted shorter school terms might impair the quality of the education received by school children and possibly hurt their chances of getting into the college of their choice.

But he added, "That is most regrettable. But I doubt it would be as serious as having your school staff underpaid. This will keep down unrest and do less damage."

"After all, school teachers like to be paid. Even a dedicated teacher likes to eat."

Sen. Laurence Eustis of New Orleans charged, "...this is the worst bill that's ever been introduced since I've been in the Legislature."

Man Dies After Auto Accident Near Oak Grove

LELAND, Miss. (Special) — George Ray Finklea, 52, injured in an auto accident near Oak Grove, La., Friday night, died in a hospital here yesterday.

Finklea was returning from California to visit relatives here when he was injured.

Louisiana State Police previously reported Finklea was injured on Louisiana Highway 2, about 15 miles west of Oak Grove, when his auto overturned three times.

Two other occupants, identified as Negroes, were not injured, officials said. Finklea's home address was listed as Hiland, Calif. He was employed at Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino.

He had been transferred from the Oak Grove clinic to a hospital here Saturday. Funeral services will be held today in Leland.

Mapping Of Ocean Floor By Reds Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians were reported Sunday to be mapping the ocean floor off North America in a massive operation so Soviet nuclear submarines can sneak up to U.S. shores without surfacing.

U.S. News & World Report, in a copyrighted article dated London, quoted Western Intelligence officials as giving that explanation for the recent increase in sightings of unidentified submarines near American waters and for six Soviet trawlers anchored for months off the Canadian coast. The magazine did not identify the officials.

The articles said: The purpose of this operation, as the officials see it, is to enable Soviet nuclear submarines, several of which are being built, to travel submerged from Russia to action stations off the U.S. coast. "There, still submerged and undetected, such submarines could launch missiles, with H-bomb warheads anywhere in the United States."

A submarine in unknown waters normally navigates by surfacing from time to time to take sights on the sun or stars but this cannot be done while traveling under the surface for thousands of miles.

"Underwater" action stations also must be located with great accuracy, to establish a known location for firing the missiles. This is part of the ocean-floor mapping job.

"The intelligence experts say it will take Soviet submarines and 'trawlers' from five to 10 years to complete such a job of mapping American waters."

Peabody said in a statement that the noisy convention "broke up when McCormack forces were caught trying to steal it," or "buy it."

"Throughout the convention and increasingly so during the final ballot several McCormack delegates were openly voting empty seats as delegates," Peabody said. McCormack is a nephew of Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), House majority leader, and Peabody is the son of the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, a Protestant Episcopal bishop of Central New York.

Former State Rep. Joseph D. Ward (D-Fitchburg) sought the convention endorsement with McCormack and Peabody.

Senate Says Pay As Long As It Lasts

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The Senate Sunday night passed 23-14 and sent to the House Sen. F. E. Cole's bill to pay school teachers at their present level as long as the money lasts, then close Louisiana's public schools.

The final vote came after Gov. Earl Long's leaders defeated 18-17 a move by Sen. Farrell Blanchard of Donaldsonville to return the bill to the calendar.

"This is one of the most momentous bills to appear before the Legislature," said Blanchard. "I want to study it further."

The measure refers to a 1956 salary schedule which has been paid at 50 per cent level for two years but is left out of the new budget.

A one cent increase in the natural gas gathering tax falls 12 to 14 million dollars short of providing enough money.

Sen. C. H. Downs of Alexandria, Long floor leader, said "If you don't take this step, there will be more confusion in September than there is now."

"If the tidelands money comes in, you have nothing to worry about. The teachers salaries will be paid."

"If the money doesn't come in, you'll have to come back here to provide funds for it anyway," Downs said, snapping warring Long supporters into line for the bill.

Earlier, Downs opposed an amendment by Cole which would have included the State Department of Education in the bill. It was defeated 4-23.

Downs said, "The budget committee worked all these weeks, to cut the department of education. This would permit the department to continue as it is now and discriminate against other state agencies."

Downs was a member of the governor's budget committee which heavily slashed Education Supt. Shelby Jackson's operating budget.

Downs then offered substitute amendments to clarify the wording of the bill, which were adopted 22-12.

Under questioning, Cole admitted shorter school terms might impair the quality of the education received by school children and possibly hurt their chances of getting into the college of their choice.

But he added, "That is most regrettable. But I doubt it would be as serious as having your school staff underpaid. This will keep down unrest and do less damage."

"After all, school teachers like to be paid. Even a dedicated teacher likes to eat."

Sen. Laurence Eustis of New Orleans charged, "This is the worst bill that's ever been introduced since I've been in the Legislature."

Man Dies After Auto Accident Near Oak Grove

LELAND, Miss. (Special) — George Ray Finklea, 52, injured in an auto accident near Oak Grove, La., Friday night, died in a hospital here yesterday.

Finklea was returning from California to visit relatives here when he was injured.

Louisiana State Police previously reported Finklea was injured on Louisiana Highway 2, about 15 miles west of Oak Grove, when his auto overturned three times.

Two other occupants, identified as Negroes, were not injured, officials said.

Finklea's home address was listed as Hiland, Calif. He was employed at Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino.

He had been transferred from the Oak Grove clinic to a hospital here Saturday. Funeral services will be held today in Leland.

Believe Anthrax Crisis Passed

Authorities battling an anthrax outbreak in the Northeast Louisiana area yesterday were of the opinion that the crisis may have passed.

Eleven parishes remained under quarantine against further spread of the death-dealing disease. R. M. McDuff, county agent for Morehouse parish, said last night an estimated 500 head including all types of livestock have been destroyed by anthrax. He said that vaccination programs are believed to be near completion and that the impetus of the spread of the disease is believed to have passed.

McDuff said that he had three or four calls yesterday from farmers who had vaccinated their animals against anthrax but still suffered some losses. The agent explained that in these few cases the time for immunization to develop apparently had not taken effect.

Ten to 14 days after vaccination are required to develop safe immunization, McDuff said, and that several farmers in Morehouse parish had not vaccinated their stock until last week.

In Ouachita parish S. R. Aycock, assistant county agent, reported yesterday that approximately 150 head of livestock have died here but that it is believed that 75 to 80 per cent of the animals in this parish have now been vaccinated.

Previously, Dr. A. B. Cochran, area supervisor with the state Livestock Sanitary Board said in Rayville that "Unvaccinated animals can be moved into quarantined areas for immediate slaughter only. Those animals that have been vaccinated against anthrax 30 days prior to entry and not more than six months prior to entry can be admitted."

Parishes in which quarantines now exist include Lincoln, Morehouse, Ouachita, Richland, Caldwell, West Carroll, Union, East Carroll, Madison, Tensas and Franklin.

New

A new TV station is to be opened shortly in El Dorado to replace KREB the present station. The new station will be designated as KIVE.

Monroe will be interested as the transmitter and tower site will be only 40 miles north of Monroe just over the line in Arkansas.

The tower will stand 132 feet one of the tallest in the mid-south and it will be heard in Mississippi on the east, Winfield, on the south, and also Pine Bluff and the Red River areas.

Construction is under way and will be completed in early fall.

Life Saving

Life saving classes for seniors and beginners will begin today at Newrick pool for Negroes, according to Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive director for the Ouachita Parish chapter of the Red Cross.

The senior class will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the class for beginners will get underway an hour later. Elmer Hoston Jr. will instruct the seniors and Florence Taylor will be in charge of the beginners.

"Now this says if the money is not available we should close down the schools."

However, Sen. J. D. DeBlieux of Baton Rouge said, "This may be what I've been looking for for quite some time."

"This may lead to local participation in paying the costs of the schools," he added. "It is possible that if some of our school boards have to raise the money, they could do a better job. This may be a step in the right direction."

Sen. Brenham Crothers of Ferriday said, "This seems to me to be very bad public relations for the school teachers. I don't think the teachers are ready to advertise to the people of this state that they are ready to close down the public schools because money is not on hand to continue their pay."

"I know they are more patriotic than that. I'm perfectly willing, in the event, sufficient funds are not available to support our schools to come back here and raise more revenues, but I'm not prepared to support something that reflects on the teachers of this state."

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Sumnerfield said, "I think everybody agrees we should do what we can to maintain teachers salaries at the present level."

"I stand ready to do whatever I can to do that. I don't think we should come here and tell the school boards that if they don't have the money to operate for nine months, they should close down and operate only seven months," he said.

Here is the vote by which the Senate passed 23-14 a bill directing school boards to pay teachers at the present level then close schools when the money runs out.

Voting for the bill (23): Sens. Ackel, Blanchard, Cleveland, Cole, DeBlieux, Diehmman, Downs, Edwards, Fink, Folkes, Gaspard, Jones, King, Larcade, Long, McCullough, McGovern, Nelson, O'Connor, Rappelet, Rayburn, Sockrider and Stumpf.

The fight to block the move was led by Rep. Jesse McLain, St. Tammany parish and Rep. Ben F. Holt of Alexandria. Holt is a Long leader.

Napper said the hospital board recommended that the Ruston institution be converted because of the decline of tuberculosis. He argued against charges that the institution is "just a bunch of buildings."

McLain said, "All this bill is for is to keep a bunch of fellows in jobs up there."

Holt said, "It's just a bunch of old buildings up there."

"Have you ever been on the campus?" Napper asked Holt. "I've seen it," answered Holt. "I've never been on it."

"It's funny then, that 15 or 20 legislators recently visited the hospital and reported the facilities to be in excellent shape and well cared for," Napper countered.

The bill by Napper and Fields would take funds from the general appropriations bill that have been used in the past for the TB institution.

But McLain said the move would create a new hospital. "We already have alcoholic hospitals at the charity, Greenwell, and Southeastern," he explained.

"All you have there is sobering-up wards," Fields answered.

"I thought all the drinking was done in south Louisiana," said Rep. Richard Bertrand, Lafayette.

Napper answered, "I realize you have a great problem in south Louisiana. I understand two-thirds of the population is below Alexandria and I imagine 85 per cent of the drinking is done south of Alexandria."

Rep. Fletcher S. Sutton, Bienville parish, and Rep. Welborn Jack, Caddo parish, spoke in favor of the move.

"Isn't Lincoln parish dry?" asked McLain. "Why put an alcoholic institution in a dry parish?"

Fields then delivered his expose on north-Louisiana drinking.

Holt said he thought the "cause was good, but I don't see how we can justifiably go along with creating something else."

"Didn't you vote to create a new hospital in Baton Rouge?" Fields asked.

"Yes," answered Holt. Fields said the bill has "nothing to do with the wine tax. And I want it understood that my intentions have always been to vote for the wine tax."

Lakes Charles

Airman Drowns

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — A 43-year-old Lake Charles airman drowned in Freien Lake late Saturday while trying to swim to a pier from a sunken boat.

He was identified as Tech. Sgt. Charles C. Walker, stationed at the Lake Charles Air Force Base.

The boat in which Walker was riding was being pulled ashore with Walker and three others holding onto its sides.

Near the shore Walker struck out on his own and declined aid from another boat nearby. He suddenly called for help and slipped beneath the surface.

The base said Walker was from Ohio, but his home town was not available.

OVERWHELMINGLY

House Votes To Add 10 Judges

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana House overwhelmingly voted final legislative passage Sunday night for a Senate bill adding 10 new appeal judges in the first major judicial revision in 60 years.

Chief Justice John B. Fournier, who personally has helped steer the measure through the Legislature, was in the House just before the 83-1 vote.

There was no opposition voiced no debate, only Rep. Ashton B. Collier of Winn parish voted "no."

As a constitutional proposal, it does not require signature of Gov. Earl Long. It will be submitted to the voters next November.

Senate bill 128 proposes to shift the case load from the state supreme court to the appeal courts, strengthened by 10 new appeal judges.

It represents the first revision in Louisiana's system of judicial review since 1898.

Where it now requires about two years for a "one man" supreme court decision, under the new system a decision from an appeals court should be handed down in less than six months, and the supreme court would be able to devote more care and time to its verdicts.

Under the new proposal, which goes to the voters next November with legislative approval, direct appeals to the state supreme court from district courts would be limited to criminal cases and lawsuits challenging state laws.

Here are the appeal court changes:

1. The New Orleans area appeal court would be increased from three to five judges, with one required to be elected from outside Orleans parish.
2. The Shreveport area appeal bench would be raised from three to four judges.
3. The Baton Rouge appeal court would be raised from three to five judges.
4. A new Southwest Appeal Circuit set up in Lake Charles would have five judges.

"Father Curren is great... but his real greatness is in the fact that he has made use of innumerable opportunities to do good during his 25 years as a priest," noted the Rev. Dave Dabris.

Former Gov. Noy, called on to speak unexpectedly, revealed his belief that "If we had more Father Currens in Monroe, in Louisiana and in the world, we would have so much better a world. He is always saying something good of someone, always is happy and trying to help the community," Noy continued.

Chairman Tony Lewis, after reading several congratulatory telegrams from throughout the state and nation, mentioned that he could "count at least 150 more persons who paid tribute to Father Curren last night despite the fact that they could not attend the banquet."

"We would need Yankee Stadium to have room enough for all his friends throughout the nation to attend this event," he added.

A rising vote of appreciation was given to Father Curren by all persons who attended the banquet.

Earlier in the evening, he officiated at 5 p.m. Mass attended by the Bishop and a large gathering of parishioners. An honor guard was formed by the Knights of Columbus for a procession before the Mass began.

THE STATE OF THE NOTIONS

Before a cheering audience and a partly cheering Congress President Eisenhower delivered his "state of the nation" address a few days ago. The President hit the nail right on the head several times, and when he turned on the old like charm the applause was reverberating with some subdued tones from the south. But we are guessing that before Congress adjourns sometime near next Thanksgiving that more will depend upon the "state of the notions" than on the "state of the nation."

It's going to be the notions and notions of Congress that is going to determine what will happen during the current political year. And we notice, too, that Congressmen are influenced by the notions and notions of their constituents.

But before we get too far along with national affairs let us settle some problems right here at home. For instance, how are your collections coming along, Mr. Credit Man? Not so good? Well, why not consult us? Before long we'll get a lot of your slow debtors in a "state of a nation" to pay up, and both you and they will be happier for it.

Graham Issues Plea Against Backsliding

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, speaking at Seals Baseball Stadium to some 38,000 persons, ended his San Francisco crusade Sunday with a plea against backsliding.

"Do not go back to your old ways of living or yield to old temptations and old idolatries," he told those who had made "decisions for Christ" during the seven weeks of sermons.

The crowd was one of the largest ever assembled in the ballpark which has seats for 25,900 if the baseball field is used. It topped Graham's best attendance in the 16,500-seat Cow Palace by some 12,000.

About 1,400 persons filled the space between first and third base when Graham asked for decisions. He spoke from a platform at second base.

Tito Helps Draft Note To Hungary

BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito has personally helped draft a note to Hungary protesting the execution of former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy, reliable sources said Sunday night.

Tito left Belgrade several weeks ago for a rest on his secluded Adriatic island of Brioni. Friday he met there with Yugoslav Ambassador to Budapest Jovo Kapicic, who was called back for consultations.

Foreign Minister Koca Popovic was also present at the meeting that dealt with the executions in Budapest. Other top-ranking Yugoslav leaders also are at Brioni, and it is believed they too participated in the drafting of the note.

Dag Confers With Leaders Of Arab Group

CAIRO (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld — here for talks with United Arab Republic leaders on the Lebanon crisis—conferred with President Nasser Sunday night a few hours after his arrival.

Hammarskjöld talked to Nasser after meeting 70 minutes with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

The announced purpose of Hammarskjöld's visit was to discuss U.N. matters, but there was no doubt Lebanon would be the main topic.

THE STATE OF THE NOTIONS

Before a cheering audience and a partly cheering Congress President Eisenhower delivered his "state of the nation" address a few days ago. The President hit the nail right on the head several times, and when he turned on the old like charm the applause was reverberating with some subdued tones from the south. But we are guessing that before Congress adjourns sometime near next Thanksgiving that more will depend upon the "state of the notions" than on the "state of the nation."

It's going to be the notions and motions of Congress that is going to determine what will happen during the current political year. And we notice, too, that Congressmen are influenced by the notions and motions of their constituents.

But before we get too far along with national affairs let us settle some problems right here at home. For instance, how are your collections coming along, Mr. Credit Man? Not so good? Well, why not consult us? Before long we'll get a lot of your slow debtors in a "state of a notion" to pay up, and both you and they will be happier for it.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Professional Help Needed By Husband

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I married a man 18 months ago because I thought he'd be good to me and my 11-year-old daughter. My first marriage was a miserable failure and I vowed I'd never trust a man again. This man seemed so kind and good-natured I decided to give marriage another chance. What a fool I was!

My daughter had polio when she was three and it left her badly crippled. She walks with the aid of leg braces. Her mind is sharp and she does excellent work in school.

My husband was very sweet to her before we married. But now he makes fun of her crippled condition and imitates her lame walk until I could strangle him. The past six months have been unbearable. My husband taunts her until she cries. Then he screams at her. I live in fear that one day he may strike her. If he does I don't know what I'll do to him. Why has he turned so cruel? What can I do?—H.L.L.

A grown man who would make fun of a crippled child is very sick. He either resents your daughter because of her closeness to you or he's taking out on the innocent child hostilities that are rooted elsewhere.

Regardless, you simply cannot continue to live under the same roof with this man. Urge him to get professional help and in the meantime instruct him to send the support checks in the mail.

If you wonder why I'm not being more harsh with your husband it's because HE is more of a cripple than your daughter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am three months pregnant. I think I know which one of my boy friends is the father, but both of them are denying it. How can I prove anything? Please tell me what to do. I'm enclosing 20 cents for your pamphlet on "Necking and Petting and How Far to Go." —Gertrude.

Dear Gertrude: On the outside chance that this is no gag, I will play it straight.

Contact Legal Aid and they will advise you as to paternity procedure. I am sending you the pamphlet you requested although it seems a little like buying oats for a dead horse.

Dear Ann: We have only one problem in our family and it is 10 years old... but it's big enough to keep everyone in a constant state of turmoil.

Our son is bright and good-looking. He's continually quarreling with his 8-year-old sister and 6-year-old brother. He fights everything we want him to do. We argue all the time. Right now we're trying to get him to settle down and work on a scout award. As with all the other awards he has won, we must push him and nag him.

Sometimes I think it's not worth the effort, and perhaps we should leave him alone. But what kind of a man will he be if we let him take the course of least resistance?

We can't afford a psychiatrist and I wouldn't want him to think he's not normal by taking him to one. I admit when I lose my temper I shout at him and let him know he's a problem child. Our entire family is upset by this stubborn boy. Please offer some advice.—G.H.M.

Your boy isn't a "problem child." He's a child with a problem. You've made him feel like the trouble-maker and now he intends to live up to the reputation.

What you consider "laziness" is an act of rebellion against you. He wants to fail because he knows you are eager for him to succeed. This is how he gets even.

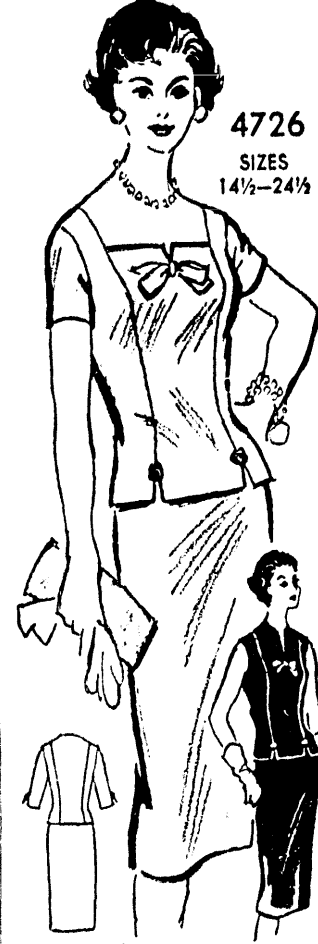

Take your son to a specialist in child behavior. He'll suggest that you relax and quit pushing the boy.

Spend your energies building up this child instead of knocking him down. You'll find his entire attitude will change when he learns it's more fun to be a good boy than a bad one.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Abdullah's Son
Files Petition

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — The son of Sheikh Abdullah, the imprisoned "Lion of Kashmir," filed a petition in court Saturday for the release of his father.

Sheikh Abdullah, former premier and once a staunch friend of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, was jailed April 21 under the Preventive Detention Act. This allows imprisonment without trial of persons suspected of threatening security of the state.

He spent 4½ years in jail under the same law and was out less than four months when he was arrested again.

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Inasmuch as partner can take care of the clubs, you should be able to run nine tricks. Remember, partner stood for the double of one diamond and therefore has that suit well bottled up.

Q. 7.—You open with one heart, partner responds one no trump, and you hold:
♠5 ♥AK74 ♦AQ75 ♣J63
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Game is hopeless, and your hand is of the no trump family. You will do well enough to take seven tricks without trying for eight. You have only 14 points and partner cannot have more than 10.

Q. 8.—As South you hold:
♠4 ♥KJ 10 972 ♦AK4 ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:
East, 1 heart; South, Pass; West, Pass; North, Pass.
What is your opening lead?
A.—You should start drawing trumps at once to prevent declarer from using any of his little one for ruffing. The best lead is the king of hearts. This allows for the remote chance that dummy has a singleton queen. If declarer has the ace and queen it makes no difference, because he must make them both in any event.

Q. 1.—As South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:
North, 1 heart; East, Pass; South, 1 spade; West, Pass; North, 2 spades; East, Pass; South, ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. With this hand you wish to arrive at a game contract, but in order to determine the best medium, a temporarily bid of three clubs is in order. If partner rebids hearts, you may rise to game in that suit. If he goes to three no trump, you may accept the contract, and if he returns to three spades, you may contract for game in that suit.

The bidding has proceeded:
North, 1 club; East, Pass; South, 1 diamond; West, 1 heart; North, 2 diamonds; East, 2 hearts; South, ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Five diamonds. Partner has opened the bidding and made a free raise. He must, therefore, have a very sound hand. Your queen of clubs has become promoted in value by reason of partner's bid in that suit. You have the right singleton and should expect to experience no difficulty in making five diamonds.

Q. 6.—As South, with both sides vulnerable, you hold:

West, 1 diamond; North, Pass; East, Pass; South, Double; West, Pass; North, Pass; East, 1 spade; South, 2 hearts; West, Pass; North, 3 clubs; East, Pass; South, ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Inasmuch as partner can take care of the clubs, you should be able to run nine tricks. Remember, partner stood for the double of one diamond and therefore has that suit well bottled up.

Q. 7.—You open with one heart, partner responds one no trump, and you hold:

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Game is hopeless, and your hand is of the no trump family. You will do well enough to take seven tricks without trying for eight. You have only 14 points and partner cannot have more than 10.

♠4 ♥KJ 10 972 ♦AK4 ♣3

YOUR PROBLEMS

Professional Help Needed By Husband

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I married a man 18 months ago because I thought he'd be good to me and my 11-year-old daughter. My first marriage was a miserable failure and I vowed I'd never trust a man again. This man seemed so kind and good-natured I decided to give marriage another chance. What a fool I was!

My daughter had polio when she was three and it left her badly crippled. She walks with the aid of leg braces. Her mind is sharp and she does excellent work in school.

My husband was very sweet to her before we married. But now he makes fun of her crippled condition and imitates her lame walk until I could strangle him.

The past six months have been unbearable. My husband taunts her until she cries. Then he screams at her. I live in fear that one day he may strike her. If he does I don't know what I'll do to him. Why has he turned so cruel? What can I do?—H.L.J.

A grown man who would make fun of a crippled child is very sick. He either resents your daughter because of her closeness to you or he's taking out on the innocent child hostilities that are rooted elsewhere.

Regardless, you simply cannot continue to live under the same roof with this man. Urge him to get professional help and in the meantime instruct him to send the support checks in the mail. If you wonder why I'm not being more harsh with your husband it's because HE is more of a cripple than your daughter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am three months pregnant. I think I know

Dedicate Holy Trinity Church

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A German Lutheran bishop Sunday rededicated Warsaw's Holy Trinity church, an 18th century architectural masterpiece which a German divebomber wrecked in 1939. Religious leaders from East and West Europe and the United States gathered beneath its great dome to make the ceremony a symbol of church unity.

The Rt. Rev. Johann Lilje, presiding bishop of the United Lutheran Church in Germany, performed the rite, assisted by the Lutheran archbishops of Latvia and Estonia.

Abdullah's Son Files Petition

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — The son of Sheikh Abdullah, the imprisoned "Lion of Kashmir," filed a petition in court Saturday for the release of his father.

Sheikh Abdullah, former premier and once a staunch friend of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, was jailed April 21 under the Preventive Detention Act. This allows imprisonment without trial of persons suspected of threatening security of the state.

He spent 4½ years in jail under the same law and was out less than four months when he was arrested again.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As third hand, after two passes, you hold:
♠AK 10 2 ♥J76 ♦853 ♣AJ4

What is your opening bid?
A.—One spade. If you were the dealer, the proper call would be one club to provide an easy rebid of one spade if partner responded with a diamond or a heart, but since partner has already passed, you need not prepare for a rebid, for it should be your purpose to pass any response partner makes. Therefore, bid one spade.

Q. 2—Your partner has opened with two no trump, and you hold:
♠J876543 ♥932 ♦74 ♣6

What is your response?
A.—Despite the fact that you have only one high card point, a bid of three spades is clearly indicated. Any seven card major suit should produce a game opposite a hand containing 22 points in high cards. If partner returns to three no trump, your spades, of course, proceed to four spades. No partner, however, illustrious, is entitled to the compliment of being permitted to play this hand at no trump.

Q. 3—As South, with East and West vulnerable, you hold:
♠9643 ♥72 ♦AK85 AJ 10

The bidding has proceeded:
South, 1 diamond; West, 1 spade; North, 2 diamonds; East, 2 hearts; South, Pass; West, Pass; North, Double; East, Pass; South, 2.

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. There is no reason for you to refuse to stand for partner's double, even though his response was not of a very vigorous nature. You have three very fast tricks, which is all that is to be expected of a player who opened the bidding.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠KQ76 ♥Q96 ♦J4 ♣KQ93

The bidding has proceeded:
North, 1 heart; East, Pass; South, 1 spade; West, Pass; North, 2 spades; East, Pass; South, 2.

Neighbor Was Wrong But Deserves Another Chance

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

If any woman's objective is to should have been other children remain friendly with her neighbors, she is certain to have to over look some behavior that she may disapprove or dislike.

A reader writes, "I have four children, six, five, three and 10 months. Our little 3-year-old had a birthday party recently and we invited all her little cousins and two boys of six and eight who have just moved here."

"Everything went off smoothly and all but a few went home. My little boy and two of his cousins started playing with a wagon. The 9-year-old ran to his mother demanding to play with the wagon and she sent him back to play with the others."

"But when he went back he jerked the wagon from the other boys, throwing one of them out so he hit his head. This boy jumped up and hit him. When the mother saw her boy hit she went into a fit of temper and insisted that her boy hit him back and threatened to spank him if he didn't. 'We were all so embarrassed. We have always let our children settle their own difference — if they didn't hurt each other. What we want to know is: Should we include her in our future gatherings?'"

Answer
Let's digress a moment. You made your first mistake in inviting all these older children to a 3-year-old's birthday party. There

GOING TO RUSSIA

Teacher To Show How U.S. Lives

ALICE, Tex. (UPI)—A Texas school teacher is going to Russia next month and says she'll show the Russian people pictures of how Americans live.

Miss Annelle Hardt, who formerly taught in Austin and Corpus Christi and now lives in Alice, will be among 40 U.S. citizens who will participate in production of a number of scenes for the U.S. television program called "Youth Wants To Know."

Annelle will be visiting the Soviet Union and its satellites on a grant from the council of student travel, a group representing almost 40 nationwide service organizations.

When Annelle visits Russia, she'll be taking a part of America with her. "I've been taking pictures of everyday scenes to show people of Russia," she said—"my mother getting ready to can corn, little league baseball games, boats on a lake... things which so often are seen here, but so often disbelieved in other nations."

Familiar Places
Part of the tour will be familiar country to Annelle. She was born in Posen, Poland, scene of the anti-Communist uprising while her father, the Rev. Charles T. Hardt, was a missionary there.

If the Berlin to Warsaw leg of her journey is made by train, she'll be passing through her birthplace. This will be her second trip to Europe. She went to Holland in 1953 in a work-camp program to help clean up after the Dutch floods.

At Moscow next month, the group of 40 will divide into four groups to tour the provinces, and see the Russian schools in operation. Annelle's group will visit Tashkent, capital of Uzbek, and Samarkand, a city ancient even in the time of Genghis Khan.

Everything Ready
The tour already is completed to every detail. They'll spend 10 days in Moscow to hear Communist officials give party views on economic, political and educational policies.

Then they'll split in four groups. Annelle's is the only group scheduled to visit a presidium meeting, where Communist party members—and only party members—elect officials.

She'll also visit universities, collective farms, resort places and other Communist show places. Annelle was picked with the other 39 for the trip because she showed interest in political affairs and because of group methods she used in her teaching. High standings in college also helped her qualify.

Allen contributed his first pint 13 years ago in his home town and continued to heed the call while serving with the Navy during the Korean conflict.

a few friends and starting courtless arguments. I would like to state that I don't think anything new has been added to acting technique in at least several centuries.

It would be foolish to say that acting hasn't changed. All one would have to do to disprove this would be to turn on a television set. The style of acting in movies made as recently as 15 and 20 years ago seems hopelessly florid and broad compared to the more repressed school of modern drama.

Restrained Performance

I recently completed a motion picture called "Hot Spell" for Hal Wallis at Paramount, in which Shirley Booth and I portray the parents of three children, enacted by Shirley MacLaine, Earl Holliman and Clint Kimbrough.

Throughout the production, I was conscious of the fact that the youngsters' performances, although excellent, were considerably more restrained than either Miss Booth's or my own. This is not, I am sure, from any acting "method," although Kimbrough is a graduate of the Actors Studio in New York, but purely a result of the fact that today's young generation is quieter, more restrained in speech and gesture than its predecessors.

In their own language, they like to play it "cool."

The question this poses is have acting styles changed, or have styles in behavior changed? If a machine could be devised which would allow us to tune in, as with a television set, to the actions and conversations of people twenty years ago, would we not find that they were just as broad and florid in their behavior as the acting of the time was in its impersonation of life?

Heavyweight Or Millstone

There are different kinds of heavy weights and they have different values. A heavyweight may be a person who ranks at the top of his class—in other words, not a nitwit. A millstone is a heavy weight. There is every indication that the latter is the kind of heavy weight Sherman Adams has become in the Eisenhower administration.

Even the four Republicans who came to Adams' defense—or at least to the defense of President Eisenhower in his decision not to fire Adams—said the chief presidential assistant may have made some mistakes but that "he was frank enough to admit it." This was scant defense inasmuch as criminals are often frank enough to admit their guilt when caught with the goods.

President Eisenhower may regard Mr. Adams as a mental heavyweight but there are many others who have long thought the chief presidential assistant was more of a millstone about the president's neck. Now they are even more convinced that this is so.

Mr. Adams' popularity has not increased during the time he has been trying to tell the president how to run the country. He has served two terms in congress, been governor of New Hampshire, engaged in professional politics for many years and has been assistant to the president for more than six years but it is doubtful whether he could be elected now to any office of importance. Certainly he has not gained in popularity in the south, where he was scarcely known before being chosen as an aide to the president.

In accepting a large number of gifts and favors from wealthy Bernard Goldfine, Mr. Adams did not act through ignorance. His political experience made him fully aware of the implications of his acts. In return for more than $2,500 worth of gifts, including hotel accommodations and a $700 coat, Mr. Adams performed for Mr. Goldfine some valuable services which only the assistant to the president could perform.

One excuse that has been offered for Mr. Adams in his acceptance of gifts in exchange for favors was that "others do it." If this were a logical excuse it could be used by criminals.

President Eisenhower has showed his loyalty in defending Mr. Adams. He did this because of friendship and because of reluctance to give a friend a downward shove.

Mr. Adams should show the same kind of friendship for the president. He should remove himself as a weight around the president's neck by resigning. He would thus take President Eisenhower off the spot.

Credit Union Law

Efforts are being made in the state legislature to amend the state credit union law. Under the proposals, proxy voting would be allowed and addition votes would be provided for each 25 fully paid shares of stock.

Since the first credit union law was enacted a half century ago, the principle of "one member, one voice, one vote" has been fundamental in all such laws, federal and state. As credit unions spread throughout the world, the principle has been adhered to. Its soundness apparently has been proved by the experience of more than 20,000 credit unions.

The Louisiana Credit Union League is the parent organization of more than 370 Louisiana credit unions. The league leadership comes from all parts of Louisiana and the leaders have had long experience in the credit unions of which they are members. The league's legislative committee, after careful consideration, has expressed itself as unalterably opposed to suggested changes. The committee is composed of representatives of credit unions in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Monroe, Lake Charles, Alexandria, Shreveport and Lafayette.

The principle of "one member, one vote" provides for economic democracy among members of credit unions similar to their political heritage as citizens of communities.

Proxy voting and voting by number of shares, instead of individual member voting would alter the present character of the credit union institution. Foes of the measure say it is undemocratic and that it would provide legal avenues for those who, because of their financial advantages, seek to dominate and control the organizations.

It is contended that senate bill 158 is repugnant to those who serve in leadership positions and to a vast majority of the credit union members.

No bill of this kind should be passed until the most careful consideration has been given as to its merits and as to the best interests of the majority.

JACK K. RUSSELL

Russia May Be Planning Nightmare For U.S. Ships

The United States is quietly studying moves to counter an expected Soviet propaganda campaign designed to wreck the value of America's first atom-powered merchant ship as a messenger of the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Rep. John Shelley (D-Calif.), an old-time dock worker and former Coast Guard "hoolligan," was the first to point out to starry-eyed government officials the suspect Communist plan to turn the NS Savannah's maiden voyage into a nightmare.

The keel of the $40 million nuclear-powered merchant vessel was laid last month in New Jersey on the Central Intelligence Agency Maritime Day. In the attendant fanfare, the government apparently overlooked the fact that the Reds will not allow this new harbinger of peace to carry its message unobstructed.

In an unpublished letter to the Central Intelligence Agency, Shelley pointed out that the Communist propaganda barrage "might well consist of warnings to longshoremen around the world not to work the ship because of the danger of radioactivity."

Shelley's speculation is not idle. The San Francisco is well aware of the Communist influence in the longshoremen organizations throughout the world. Although the Savannah's maiden voyage is not yet mapped, there is scarcely a port in the world which would not be vulnerable to such a propaganda attack.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Nate Spingold's Death Loss To Film Industry

I recently went to the funeral of an interesting and charming man who was very important in the motion picture industry but was probably not as famous as many stars whom he made great and who shot before his desk their stellar careers to perform.

I first met Nate Spingold under the most unfortunate circumstances. He came to quarrel with me. He was angry and yet gentle, which is so unusual these days. Gentility is a gift which only those to the manner born possess and although Spingold could not have come from any kind of aristocracy, he was born with the personality and manner and integrity which we attribute to the very best of human beings. And so, on a Saturday afternoon, this man whose height and leanness and gentleness of feature made him look something like Abraham Lincoln came to quarrel.

He said that he had been told that a group of us had established a boycott of motion pictures, of actors, directors, producers, and others who were reputed to be Communists. How did we know that they were Communists? By what moral right did we designate ourselves to destroy the careers and lives of other people?

We argued for some time. We discussed Marxism, Communism, the Russian brand, the American brand, the ability of the American Communist Party to build a treasury in Hollywood. We discussed individuals. Spingold finally said:

"The problem as I see it is very different from that which you see. The way I see it, what means does a person who is not a Communist have to prove that he is not a Communist, not a traitor. If such a person goes to the FBI, what he says is confidential: it is filed and the public never hears of it. If he goes to a congressional committee, he may or may not be heard. What does such a man do? We cannot afford to employ him because we shall lose money as there will be a boycott. What is such a person to do? Is he to starve?"

Out of this discussion, an effort developed which saved the reputation and earning capacity of many men and women in the motion picture industry. A technique was established by which each person wrote a confidential letter to his own employer. For a week or two, some of the letters came into the hands of unauthorized persons, but that was soon stopped. The letters were screened by a small voluntary committee. No lawyers or press agents were tolerated. No one earned a dollar out of these transactions. The volunteer committee paid its own expenses, whatever they came to.

The Fund for the Republic tried to make something about this and most of what it reported was hearsay and inaccurate because those who really knew what was being done declined to give any information to their investigators. It is a tribute to Nate Spingold that most of his industry accepted his ideas on the subject with enthusiasm. Although there are always everywhere chiselers who would rather make a dollar than serve their country.

It can be said that most of these chiselers were new people in the motion picture industry who have had much to do with lowering its standards and giving it a very bad name. Also, it was during this activity that many Hollywood companies began making pictures in other countries, using up their blocked money, employing foreign labor, paying withholding charges to Communist nations in Italy, saving, on taxes and curiously enough, going broke in the process. The motion picture industry has become a marginal one in the Los Angeles area and important studios are now devoted to making TV films.

To the motion picture industry the loss of Nate Spingold is great, not because he knew how to make profits which he did, but because he was a gentleman of culture and good taste. Like Louis B. Mayer, who also died recently, his major concern was his country and its dignity. Spingold started life as a newspaperman working for Hearst in Chicago. He came to New York as a press agent; he became a movie magnate. But he never forgot his newspaper experience which meant that he could see a fact and appraise it. His virtue was that he leavened his appraisal by moral criteria.

Heavyweight Or Millstone

There are different kinds of heavy weights and they have different values. A heavyweight may be a person who ranks at the top of his class—in other words, not a nitwit. A millstone is a heavy weight. There is every indication that the latter is the kind of heavy weight Sherman Adams has become in the Eisenhower Administration.

Even the four Republicans who came to Adams' defense—or at least to the defense of President Eisenhower in his decision not to fire Adams—said the chief presidential assistant may have made some mistakes but that "he was frank enough to admit it." This was scant defense inasmuch as criminals are often frank enough to admit their guilt when caught with the goods.

President Eisenhower may regard Mr. Adams as a mental heavyweight but there are many others who have long thought the chief presidential assistant was more of a millstone about the president's neck. Now they are even more convinced that this is so.

Mr. Adams' popularity has not increased during the time he has been trying to tell the president how to run the country. He has served two terms in congress, been governor of New Hampshire, engaged in professional politics for many years and has been assistant to the president for more than six years but it is doubtful whether he could be elected now to any office of importance. Certainly he has not gained in popularity in the south, where he was scarcely known before being chosen as an aide to the president.

In accepting a large number of gifts and favors from wealthy Bernard Goldfine, Mr. Adams did not act through ignorance. His political experience made him fully aware of the implications of his acts. In return for more than $2,500 worth of gifts, including hotel accommodations and a $700 coat, Mr. Adams performed for Mr. Goldfine some valuable services which only the assistant to the president could perform.

One excuse that has been offered for Mr. Adams in his acceptance of gifts in exchange for favors was that "others do it." If this were a logical excuse it could be used by criminals.

President Eisenhower has showed his loyalty in defending Mr. Adams. He did this because of friendship and because of reluctance to give a friend a downward shove.

Mr. Adams should show the same kind of friendship for the president. He should remove himself as a weight around the president's neck by resigning. He would thus take President Eisenhower off the spot.

Credit Union Law

Efforts are being made in the state legislature to amend the state credit union law. Under the proposals, proxy voting would be allowed and addition votes would be provided for each 25 fully paid shares of stock.

Since the first credit union law was enacted a half century ago, the principle of "one member, one voice, one vote" has been fundamental in all such laws, federal and state. As credit unions spread throughout the world, the principle has been adhered to. Its soundness apparently has been proved by the experience of more than 20,000 credit unions.

The Louisiana Credit Union League is the parent organization of more than 370 Louisiana credit unions. The league leadership comes from all parts of Louisiana and the leaders have had long experience in the credit unions of which they are members. The league's legislative committee, after careful consideration, has expressed itself as unalterably opposed to suggested changes. The committee is composed of representatives of credit unions in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Monroe, Lake Charles, Alexandria, Shreveport and Lafayette.

The principle of "one member, one vote" provides for economic democracy among members of credit unions similar to their political heritage as citizens of communities.

Proxy voting and voting by number of shares, instead of individual member voting would alter the present character of the credit union institution. Foes of the measure say it is undemocratic and that it would provide legal avenues for those who, because of their financial advantages, seek to dominate and control the organizations.

It is contended that senate bill 158 is repugnant to those who serve in leadership positions and to a vast majority of the credit union members.

No bill of this kind should be passed until the most careful consideration has been given as to its merits and as to the best interests of the majority.

Russia May Be Planning Nightmare For U.S. Ships

The United States is quietly studying moves to counter an expected Soviet propaganda campaign designed to wreck the value of America's first atom-powered merchant ship as a messenger of the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Rep. John Shelley (D-Calif.), an old-time dock worker and former Coast Guard "hoiligan," was the first to point out to start-eyed government officials the suspected Communist plan to turn the NS Savannah's maiden voyage into a nightmare.

The keel of the $40 million Nuclear-power merchant vessel was laid last month in New Jersey on Maritime Day. In the attendant fanfare, the government apparently overlooked the fact that the Reds will not allow this new harbinger of peace to carry its message unobstructed.

In an unpublished letter to the Central Intelligence Agency, Shelley pointed out that the Communist propaganda barrage "might well consist of warnings to longshoremen around the world not to work the ship because of the danger of radioactivity."

Shelley's speculation is not idle. The San Francisco is well aware of the Communist influence in the longshoremen organizations throughout the world. Although the Savannah's maiden voyage is not yet mapped, there is scarcely a port in the world which would not be vulnerable to such a propaganda attack.

The U. S. Information Agency already is "carefully reviewing" the situation and mapping an education program designed to allay any fears created by the Reds. The Central Intelligence Agency has conferred with USA about the matter. And the White House has expressed mild interest.

Maritime Administrator Clarence G. Morse thinks Shelley's warning is "extremely well-taken" and "focuses attention on the importance of gaining early general acceptance of the NS Savannah in world commerce."

Morse reveals that his agency and the Atomic Energy Commission is attempting to foresee what direction the Communist propaganda attack will take and "take corrective or preventive steps in advance of the ship's completion."

Nuclear power problems cover technical, legal, social, and environmental aspects as well as the purely atomic and several government agencies are working in concert on all of them.

Morse claims the danger of Red propaganda was realized at the outset of the atomic ship program and that the Savannah was designed with this in mind. The nuclear reactor will be far below safe capacity, the ship is designed so that no radioactive material is discharged into the ocean and many extra safety devices still classified secret — are in the blueprints.

It is obvious, however, that Morse and the AEC have not been working very closely with some of the other federal agencies. When informed by Shelley of the danger, many of the agencies by their replies indicated a complete lack of knowledge of the situation.

Those who followed accounts of Vice President Nixon's recent troubles in South America are familiar with the amount of strife that can be kicked off by a few well-placed words and whispers in the right places.

Communist agitators could heavily in on support from non-Communists stirred up by fear, anger, or passion.

The United States will have to choose carefully the itinerary for the Savannah when she makes her maiden voyage. It also must make sure that no "incident" occurs to dull the luster of the nation's peaceful accomplishments in the nuclear power field.

Recession Hits Michigan Hard

LANSING, MICH. — Has Soapy killed the goose? Soapy would be Michigan's five — turn Gov. G. Mennen Williams, and the golden egg goose is the splendidly caparisoned Michigan economy which was once the bellwether of our industrial prosperity.

Since Williams' first election in 1948, the State has become a straggler instead of a leader in the economic advance. Outside the Detroit area, a 12-city survey shows that in nine of them the population is increasing faster than the jobs. The Iron Mountain News for last May 31st cited 12 firms — "to name just a few" — which, during national prosperity in 1950-56, slowed down or closed down in Michigan but opened plants in nearby States. The recession in the second Eisenhower term has hit harder in Michigan, and stayed there longer, than anywhere else.

Although the Michigan decade coincides with the decline of Soapy Williams' incumbency, there is a strange reticence among businessmen to lay the blame squarely on the Governor. The Citizens' Alliance to Build Michigan, for example, held an executive committee meeting in Lansing last May 13th and resolved to take steps to study and combat the flight of industry. There seem to be two reasons why there was no direct attack upon Williams. One is that the Alliance intends to stay non-partisan and to attract support for its program from both parties. The other reason, as I was told by a former newspaper man, is an atmosphere of general caution which always prevails in a place which is ruled by political authoritarianism.

"People are reluctant to talk against the government," I was told. "They have a feeling that somebody is listening and will report them. They fear reprisals by the Labor. If nothing worse, their delivery of supplies will be delayed and they'll lose money."

When you find this vague feeling of being watched and of being under a threat, you commence to understand what is meant by the bad economic "climate" of Michigan. Everybody assumes that Gov. Williams is beholden for his office to Walter Reuther, chief of the United Auto Workers and Vice President of the AFL-CIO. The talk is that nobody who isn't "cleared" by the UAW gets a political appointment, and to have friends at court in Michigan means to have them in the Laborite circles. The Governor's 9-year rule has its strength in political organizers, paid out of union funds who get the vote registered and then march it to the polls. The party line is spoken in shop papers which go to something like a million readers. Public and industrial taxes provide, of course, for the victims of unemployment and shop accidents; but, in addition, the bureaucracy of welfare creeps into the lives of all. A township clerk gave me this example:

"We keep the vital statistics. When somebody dies, we make a record of it. At the township level there is no charge for this service. But lately, the service has gone to the county level — with a $1 charge. Later, I suppose, it'll go to the State as a larger charge."

It is not difficult to see in Michigan an unpleasant prototype of national things-to-come. The cost of bureaucracy is certainly a major reason for the inflation of prices in all industrial products. The Labor Movement is known to have taken its eye off presidential politics and to have concentrated mainly on Congressional seats. If the swing to the Democratic party, with its Labor wing, is as strong as is often predicted, the country might come out of the 1958 elections in somewhat the place where Michigan stood in 1948.

This is looking on the darkest side of the possibilities. The bright side is that Soapy Williams may have been sent to Michigan by some spirit which loves America, to warn us. In quest of his sixth term as a jump-off place for his big White House try, Williams is running into resistance. Big business was always against him, but the Citizens' Alliance consists of small businessmen and farmers. The coalition called Farmer-Labor, which exists in other midwest States, seems to be dissolving along with the Michigan Farmers Union, a Laborite group, which is dropping in membership. The Citizens' Alliance is finding takers for its non-partisan message that loss of industries is loss of jobs.

A traveler would be rash to make predictions, and indeed the worst that probably will happen to Williams is that he will lose votes, though not the election. But a byline story in the Detroit Times by Don O'Connor reported that Williams was having trouble getting endorsements for his reelection bid. It could mean a turning tide, first in Michigan, then in the nation.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Fear Confessions Ease Anxieties

Teresa's terror was unfounded. But her mother had failed to take Teresa into her confidence. The school teacher, however, helped relieve Teresa just by scheduling a "Fear Party" where all the youngsters could confess their secret dreads and thus get rid of much abnormal tension. Psychiatrists regard "Fear Parties" as ideal mental hygiene therapy.

CASE Y-343: Teresa J., aged 8, is a nervous, jittery child. "Dr. Crane, we were so worried about her," Teresa's mother began, "that we had decided to take her to a psychiatrist for treatment."

"Then something wonderful happened. Teresa suddenly became calmer and well adjusted. She no longer seemed so tense and jittery."

"I finally asked her what had caused the change and she told me it was due to what her teacher had done in school."

"One morning that school teacher suggested the class stop their regular lesson and have a special kind of party."

"She called it a 'Fear Party'. The teacher started out by telling the class that when she was 10 years old, she was terrified by toads."

"Her brothers learned of this fact and made her life miserable by trying to stick toads in her coat pocket or even in her desk at school."

"She would cry and be unstrung. And she felt so unhappy at being such a coward. Later she had an understanding teacher who helped her get over this terror, but for several years she was a slave to her panic."

Fear Parties
"Then the teacher asked her pupils if they were afraid of anything."

"A little girl across the aisle from Teresa, put up her hand and mentioned that she was deathly afraid of ghosts. In fact, she confessed she couldn't sleep in a dark bedroom, so always coaxed her mother to turn on the light."

"Teresa then put up her hand and informed the class she was afraid I might die because I kept going to the doctor's office every few weeks."

"My husband and I have never told her we were expecting a new baby, so I guess I have been responsible for Teresa's underlying fear, the past few months."

"Other pupils in her class put up their hands, too, and told about their dreads of lightning and snakes and spiders, etc."

"At our recent PTA meeting several of us mothers asked that teacher to explain what she had done to relieve our children of their nervous fears and tension."

"Dr. Crane, she explained that you had addressed her state teacher's convention and had urged all teachers in the lower grades to schedule such 'Fear Parties'.

"She said you had mentioned that confession is good for the soul and is doubly valuable in relieving youngsters of the feeling they are rank cowards for cherishing secret dreads."

"And this teacher said she herself had noticed a marked improvement in the morale of the class and the reduction in anti-social actions ever since this 'Fear Party'."

"So, Dr. Crane, please tell other teachers and parents about its merits."

Banish Child's Jitters

Youngsters regard us parents and teachers as fearless, powerful giants. By contrast, they feel sheepish and inferior because they have many petty terrors.

"Daddy never was chicken-hearted like me," is a common retort of boys.

But Daddy used to be just as chicken — hearted as his sons, though most men boast about their good points and seldom confess to their children that they even were panicky, timid kids.

Learn to learn that we adults also were afflicted with terrors at their age. It makes them feel they are not freaks or a disgrace to Sunday school and in grade school, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The horned lizard's ability to squirt blood from its eyes sometimes has been disputed, but actually does occur when alarm or excitement causes the sinus at the corner of the eye to rupture.

Many Ask For Adams To Go

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are numbers and a heavy weight of argument in support of the belief that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams must go.

The editorial consensus seems to be against him. Congressional Republicans who must confront the voters this year are urging in growing numbers that Adams quit. The complaint of Republican candidates that Adams would be a defeating handicap in this year's general election must lay a heavy burden on a New England politician's conscience.

Whether Adams goes or stays, however, will be by decision of President Eisenhower and, on the record of precedent, it is fairly obvious that at least one more strike must be called on Adams before his boss waives on him.

Times Change
Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has been under hotter fire—and longer—than any other Adams has been subjected. The circumstances have been wholly different, but the demand for Benson's ouster was louder, came from more Republicans

Recognition Of China Studied By De Gaulle

LONDON (AP)—Reports reaching this capital from Paris suggest Gen. Charles de Gaulle's government is thinking of recognizing the Communist regime in China. Diplomats who have heard these reports said they expect the French leader will discuss the question in his coming meetings with Prime Minister Macmillan, American Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other Western statesmen.

De Gaulle is believed here to be anxious that France display active and independent initiative in her foreign policy. He was said to consider that French nonrecognition of Red China is unrealistic and blocks the development of French trade and political influence in Asia.

The French Foreign Office declined to comment on these reports.

Macmillan and his experts are still assessing De Gaulle's probable foreign policy trends in preparation for their Paris meeting in nine days. The conference is being arranged to review British-French relations and most other key world issues—including relations with Russia, disarmament problems, the West's nuclear weapons policy and the future of the North Atlantic Alliance.

and, moreover, was angrier than the present demand that Adams go.

Times change, as, for example, at last week's Republican school of politics convened by the national committee for the instruction of party chairmen from all the states.

Benson was present at the cocktail party at which the chairmen were to meet the Cabinet and members of the White House staff. Chairmen crowded around to meet him. When a local politico suggested to one of the visitors—the Republican chairman of a dairy state—that he be photographed with Benson, the pair moved into the crowd around Benson, accompanied by one of the photographers there for such purposes.

As the three approached the group around Benson another of the chairmen stopped them with this remark: "If you want your picture with the secretary you will have to get in line."

Best Of Bunch?
As recently as a year ago it probably would have been difficult to persuade most of those chairmen even to be seen talking with Benson, and impossible to obtain a posed picture.

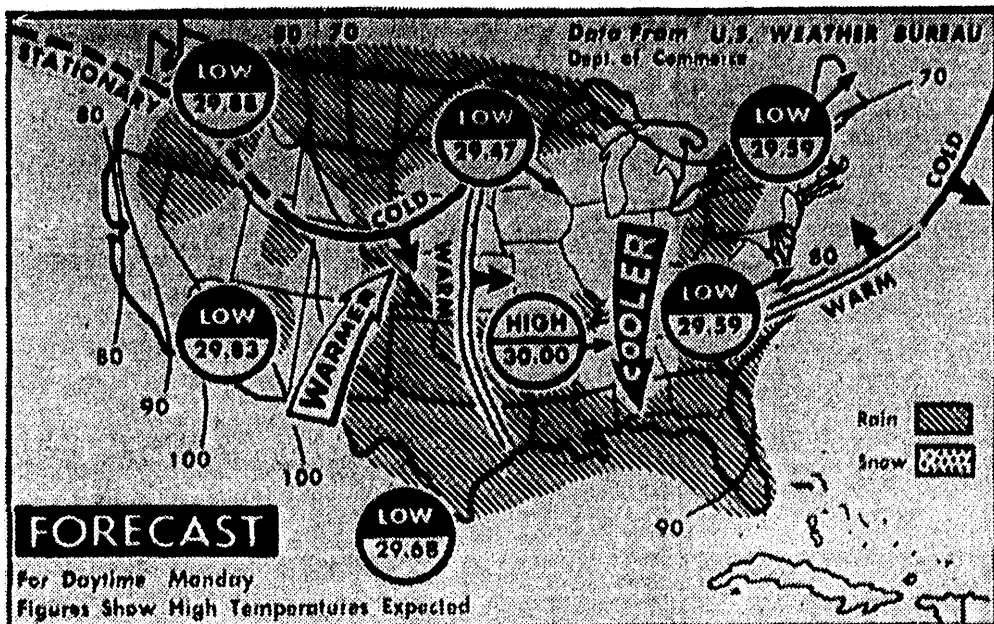

A Republican veteran of the campaign wars witnessed the picture incident and remarked: "That Benson will wind up being the best politician of the bunch."

This friendly judgment was based very largely on the fact that that Benson was one of only two Cabinet members who showed up for the party at which the Cabinet was to meet the chairmen. The other was Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, a pretty good politician, himself. Most of the Cabinet attended the much swankier reception for Philippine President Garcia.

Benson frankly informed the Philippines Embassy that it was most important for him to be with the state chairmen. He could greet President Garcia only briefly. That anecdote will circulate widely at the grass roots and it will boost Benson's stock.

Adams' problem is quite different. An unexplored area of the Adams case is how desperately Eisenhower actually needs him. The President's own explanation was that Adams had a part, large or small, in every official presidential act and function. That almost makes the two men interdependent.

This interdependence could be so great, of course, that if Adams were forced out, Eisenhower's will to remain in office would be broken. And Ike, too, might step down.

Funeral Today For Victim Of Bayou Drowning

MINDEN (Special) — Funeral services for Sammy Gene Staples, 29-year-old West Monrovia who drowned Saturday, will be held here today.

Mr. Staples met his death in the Bayou de Siard in Monroe following a two-boat collision about 6:10 p.m. Saturday.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Royce Staples; two sons, Russell Lynn and Jeffrey Allen, all of West Monroe; his brother, George Michael Staples, Minden; his mother, Mrs. Jimmy Staples, Minden; three sisters, Miss Peggy Staples, Minden, Mrs. Rex Pugh, Las Cruces, N.M., and Mrs. W. L. Lee, Shreveport.

Services will be at 3 p.m. today in the Green-Kleinberger Funeral chapel with the Rev. T. W. Leachman assisted by the Rev. H. D. Greer, officiating. Interment will follow in the Gardens of Memory Cemetery.

Plans Made At Darbar Here

The Swami Santha No. 102 N. mads of Avudaka held Darbar Friday in Castle Hall at 127½ St. John St.

The organization disposed of departmental business and set the next Darbar for July 18 at which time the membership plans a watermelon party in Bernstein Park.

Butler Cites 'Empty Words' Of President

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said this weekend standards of honesty in government laid down by President Eisenhower in campaign pledges have changed. He said they now appear as "empty words" in the light of the Sherman Adams affair.

"The corruption, the wrongdoing, the giveaways and the influence peddling in this administration are setting new records," Butler said in an address prepared for a party dinner.

"What is more, more people in high places, more heads of government agencies have been involved in wrongdoing under the Eisenhower - Nixon administration than in any administration since U. S. Grant."

Butler said that from the 1953 resignation of Wesley Roberts as Republican national chairman, after a Kansas legislative inquiry committee found he had violated at least the spirit of the state's lobbying laws, on up to acceptance of gifts by Adams, "influence peddling not only has been condoned, it has generally been defended and rewarded, even by the President himself."

After recalling Eisenhower's 1952 campaign promises to clean up the "mess in Washington" and to apply high standards of honesty

Giant's Growth Is Stopped By Tokyo Surgeon

TOKYO (AP)—A Tokyo University surgeon said Sunday he had stopped the growth of a young giant believed to be the tallest man in Japan.

Yoshimitsu Matsuzaka, 22, stands 7 feet, 8 and weighs 255. At the age of 10, he already was taller than his teachers. After being brought to the university hospital in February last year he grew more than four inches.

Prof. Kentaro Shimizu, head cerebral surgeon at the university said he performed an operation three months ago which stopped the "giantism", due to disturbances in the function of the anterior lobe of the pituitary gland.

Pythian Sisters Hold Meeting

Monroe Temple No. 1 Pythian Sisters regular meeting for this month has been scheduled at the home of past chief Ozell Thompson, 1907 N. McGuire Ave. M.C.E. Beatrice Barlow announces that the meeting will be the scene of the annual fish fry. No meetings will be held in July and August, she said.

In government, Butler said: "My how these standards have changed! How empty these words seem when applied to the results of the 'crusade' 5½ years later."

Contract Is Awarded For Area Work

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Department of Highways has awarded a contract for $665,903 to T. L. James and Co., Inc. of Ruston for 11.9 miles of widening and resurfacing along the Monroe-Columbia Hwy., U. S. 165, in Caldwell and Ouachita Parishes.

Highway Director R. B. Richardson said the work is divided into two projects, the first beginning at Bosco and running to the Caldwell Parish line and the other continuing southward to a point 2.7 miles north of Columbia.

Richardson said plans call for grading, drainage structures, widening existing 18-foot concrete pavement and surfacing with bituminous hot-mix overlay 24-feet wide.

Work is now in progress and 14 months will be required for completion, with the contractor providing for thorough and local traffic at all times during construction, the highway director said.

Fred M. Hill of Monroe is the member of the State Board of Highways from the Fifth Congressional District, in which the projects are located.

W. R. Overton of Monroe has been assigned as project engineer, under direction of Wayne H. Hucks, Highway Department district engineer at Monroe, Richardson said.

Five Ouachita Students On NSC Honor Roll

NATCHITOCHE (Special) — Five students from Ouachita parish were listed on the honor roll at Northwestern State College for the Spring semester, according to lists recently announced by Otis Crew, registrar.

They were Mary Pat Pirniquet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Welsh, of Monroe; Janice Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kirk, of Monroe; Camille Primus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Primus, of West Monroe; Eleanor Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wallace, Jr., of West Monroe; Billie Joiner, of Monroe; Katherine Weir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Weir, of West Monroe.

In order to qualify for the honor roll students must maintain an overall "B" average during the semester.

GENTLEMEN'S UNDERSTANDING

Open Convention For Demos Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospective seekers of the Democratic presidential nomination appear to be edging toward a gentleman's understanding which could lead to an open convention in 1960.

Although the principals themselves have not made any commitments, there has been lower-level discussion of a possible understanding by which favorite sons would be given a clear field in their own states.

The objective would be to prevent Democrats who hope for the party's nomination from clobbering each other in primaries, as Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee did in 1956.

If there is any agreement it could produce a record crop of favorite sons with no single candidate of overpowering strength.

While this would tend to give the convention a wide latitude of choice among contenders, it might work to the advantage of Stevenson. While he isn't likely to be there as a favorite son unless there are some changes in Illinois, Stevenson probably will have a lot of friends among the convention delegates despite his two defeats at the hands of President Eisenhower.

The favorite son lineup already is taking form. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey already has been endorsed by his state party organization in Minnesota. Various political meetings in Massachusetts have been honoring Sen. John F. Kennedy.

If he is re-elected this fall, Gov. G. Mennen Williams will be Michigan's candidate. The same holds true for Gov. Averell Harriman in New York. Gov. Robert B. Meyner already has cleared the re-election hurdle and will be New Jersey's choice.

Sen. Stuart Symington is expected to get Missouri's backing.

In the South, Florida regards Gov. Leroy Collins as more than a sectional candidate. Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina has made it clear he is available for a place on the national ticket.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky already is actively campaigning for support for the presidential nomination.

Kefauver and Sen. Albert Gore may be contesting for home state support in Tennessee.

If Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is elected governor of California, he could go a long way toward controlling the delegation either for himself or his friend Stevenson.

Similarly, if Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh should win the Pennsylvania governorship, he might be interested in helping give Stevenson a run again.

He can't wear it. Or drive it. Or display it for people to see. Probably the most unselfish purchase a man makes is life insurance.

Yet this purchase does bring something to its owner. For example, the feeling that he is truly a good provider. That he is meeting his responsibilities to those who mean the world to him.

What is this feeling worth? — Plenty, any father can tell you. He has a feeling of security that could be gained in no other way.

Yes, life insurance is an unselfish purchase. But it brings great and satisfying rewards to the purchaser just the same.

In these papers, a more secure future...

He can't wear it. Or drive it. Or display it for people to see. Probably the most unselfish purchase a man makes is life insurance.

Yet this purchase does bring something to its owner. For example, the feeling that he is truly a good provider. That he is meeting his responsibilities to those who mean the world to him.

What is this feeling worth?—Plenty, any father can tell you. He has a feeling of security that could be gained in no other way.

Yes, life insurance is an unselfish purchase. But it brings great and satisfying rewards to the purchaser just the same.

Double Duty Land Utilized

Grazing cattle and growing timber on the same land at the same time is a good way to double crop your land, according to E. C. Woodyear, a planter of Mounds in Madison Parish. This planter has been successfully doing this for the last six years.

With 600 acres of winter grazing such as rye grass and Ladino clover or Fescue and red clover, "Blue," as he is known to his friends, has wintered over 500 head of cattle.

And he had hay stacks to spare, too, while most cattlemen were scraping the bottom of their hay barns. When asked the advantages of this method of using his land by his county agent, Max McDonald, Woodyear gave these reasons:

(1) You can grow a crop of timber and graze the land at the same time;

(2) The trees protect your cattle from winter winds and summer sun;

(3) The trees also protect the grasses and clovers from the extreme cold weather and extreme hot sun;

(4) Fescue and some clovers will grow under the shade of the trees, through the summer;

(5) On waste land, this is a good way to utilize it.

This planter started this type of land utilization six years ago, when he took his bull - dozer and cleared the underbrush from about 200 acres of land during the summer. All good merchantable timber trees were left. He then scarified the soil as best he could with a disk.

In September he used an aeroplane to sow fescue grass and red clover. After watching these results, he has increased his acreage to over 600 acres. Woodyear says by all means, seed the land before the leaves fall to the ground.

Woodyear concluded his discussion with County Agent McDonald, by saying he felt he got as much or more grazing from plantings under the trees as he did out in the open. The fescue, red clover, Ladino and rye grass have reseeded themselves each year and get thicker and thicker.

ROBINS TAKE OVER
HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The DiPietro-Kay service station has decided one of its gasoline pumps is "for the birds." When the tank stopped pumping, attendants discovered a nest with four baby robins inside.

E. C. WOODYEAR, Planter of Mounds, Madison Parish, Louisiana, looks over his crop of Rye grass and Ladino clover growing on timber land. Notice how the underbrush has been cleared out and the growth of rye grass.

VIEWING AGRICULTURE

With J. J. JOYCE, JR.

I noticed around over the parish this past week large patches of Sour Dock weeds that are brown and loaded with seeds. There is more this year than in past years and it seems to keep spreading. This year, due to the excessive amount of rain, farmers have not been able to poison with 2-4-D as they should have. That is the reason that we have so many weeds. The fields have them in the ditches, turn rows and along the fences. These weeds can be spread to pastures by different means. One way is the bush hog or rotary type mower which clips the seeds, grinds them up and scatters them over the pasture. I believe that if these weeds are cut properly and burned, a large crop of young dock could be destroyed.

Remember the old saying "X marks the spot?" You should make note now of the areas where you have dock and make plans to spray your fields and pastures next February and March with 2-4-D. It may take 2 or 3 sprayings to bring these weeds under control as there are seeds in the ground that come up. The first year they do not grow much but the second year they grow rather tall, producing a heavy seed crop.

The early stages of dock weeds are easier to kill than the later stages if spraying is done in time. Make plans now to get sour dock under control early next spring. If you don't do something about these weeds they will completely take your fields and pastures.

The past few days I have received several calls on how to kill honey suckle. This plant is very hard to kill. Ammate is one chemical recommended and it can be used successfully around the home. It must be sprayed on the leaves just as in the treatment of poison ivy. For treating honey suckle you should take 1 to 2 pounds of Ammate to 1 gallon of water and this mixture should be applied to the plant with a sprayer or sprayer.

Be careful and do not get Ammate on the shrubs grass or pot plants that you want to keep as the material will also kill these plants. Do not leave Ammate in a metal container as it will corrode the metal. If you use it in a metal sprayer be sure to wash the container thoroughly with water after using it.

Light Plane
Crashes With Seven Aboard

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—A light plane carrying seven persons including four children, crashed in front of a drug store in a Kansas City suburban shopping center

Saturday night. The plane landed upside down but no one was injured seriously.

The pilot, Maurice La Tier, 32, of Independence, said he ran out of gas as he approached a nearby airport. He was attempting to land on U.S. 69 when his plane struck a utility pole and plunged to the ground. The four - place plane landed in a narrow space between the highway and the drug store in suburban Claycomo.

With La Tier were his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lister of Griggsville, Ill., and the Lister's four children. All were taken to a hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, but only Mrs. Lister was admitted. Attendants said her condition was not serious.

FARM FRONT

SOIL CONSERVATION TECHNICIANS have completed necessary surveys for adequate farm drainage on Sundown Plantation, operated by Irving Tucker of Waterproof. The plan consists of three lateral ditches and the needed field drains to permit effective surface drainage. One lateral ditch and the field drains on approximately fifty acres of the farm have been laid out and construction has begun.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of conservation farming. Ample fresh water for livestock and lush green pastures as shown in this picture provide a beautiful setting for a farm. There is little or no soil and water loss here. A. E. Oglesby, of Cheniere, a long time cooperar with soil conservation districts, is the owner of this farm. There are 525 such ponds on district cooperators' farms in Ouachita Parish.

Conservation Highlights

Drainage

A need for more and better drainage of farm land is indicated by the number of requests received by the Northeast Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service of Winnsboro.

J. H. Durr, Soil Conservationist, stated that several farmers have reported that increased yields of crops in one year have amounted to more than the cost of installing the drainage work. When drainage work is done according to the recommendations of Soil Conservation Service technicians, the Agricultural Conservation Program will assist by paying a portion of the cost.

A payment of .1 per cubic yard is made for excavation of all ditches. An extra .03 per cubic yard may be received for spreading the spoil banks on some ditches. Where it is necessary to clear right-of-way for drainage ditches, the A. C. P. will pay 50 per cent of the cost for clearing the right-of-way. Another payment that farmers may qualify for is 50 per cent of the cost of installing pipe drops in the ends if drainage ditches to prevent damage by washing.

Planting

John H. Cockerham, Agronomy Specialist with the Soil Conservation Service, spent J. H. Durr and L. H. Martin, Soil Conservationist, in methods of planting and management of grasses. Observations of Coastal Bermuda grass plantings were made on the farms of Dr. H. T. Rogers, Ike Drouett, S. R. Walters, Tom Carroll, E. A. Turner, and Grady Knox. Mr. Knox and Mr. Turner also have plantings of Pensacola Bahia grass that look good and may prove to be one of the better pasture grasses for this area.

Leveling

The Northeast Soil Conservation District is leveling land on the farms of Dave Roach, Mrs. C. L. Tarver, and Claude Watson in the Wisner area. The land is being leveled according to plans of the Soil Conservation Service, so that better use can be made of irrigation water. It is almost impossible to get a good job of flooding or furrow irrigation without leveling. Land leveling is one of the soil conservation practices that the Agricultural Conservation Program makes a payment on.

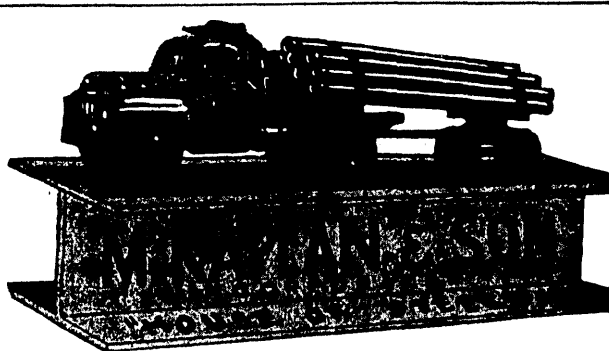

Visit

Cockerham, along with J. H. Durr and L. H. Martin, had a very interesting visit at the home of Mrs. C. B. Tucker of Gilbert. Mrs. Tucker, who is affectionately called "Aunt Kate" by her many friends showed the visitors her large assortment of flowers and shrubbery. She is also very proud of the pine seedling that the Northeast Soil Conservation District gave her to plant around her home.

Ditches

The Northeast Soil Conservation District motor patrol is constructing ditches on the farms of John A. Gwin, Asa Norwood, and Mrs. Cecelia Sisson. The Soil Conservation Service is assisting by making surveys and supervising the work. The A. C. P. will pay part of the cost of this work.

274 Thousand
Bales Said In Cotton Program

Cotton classed for Louisiana farmers in 1957 under the Smith-Doxey Program amounted to nearly 274 thousand bales according to Clyde H. Lowry, who is in charge of the Winnsboro Classing Office, Cotton Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is equivalent to over 80 per cent of the cotton produced in the state last season.

Over 27 thousand Louisiana farmers in 36 cotton improvement groups were eligible for Smith-Doxey classification and market news services in 1957. Classification and market news are tools to guide the farmer in selling his cotton for top market price, Mr. Lowry pointed out.

Farmers and organized group representatives should be making plans now to file an application since planting has been completed. The procedure to be followed in obtaining the services will be about the same as in 1957. Sampling agents should file sampler's bonds or make other arrangements as soon as possible after applications are filed.

Instructions and applications are available from county agricultural agents and Agricultural Marketing Service's Cotton Division Offices now. The deadline for filing applications in Louisiana and other south central states is August 1.

"The way it
killed
Boll Weevil
was fantastic"

That's just one way Louisiana planters describe malathion's excellent control of resistant weevils

Last year the many planters who used malathion discovered the best weevil control they'd ever seen. George Franklin, who plants 2,000 acres in Hollyridge, had this to say about malathion: "Control of resistant weevils was fantastic. We got faster, higher kills of weevils... whether or not resistant... than with any insecticide we ever used before. Even if malathion only equalled others in control, we'd use it because it's way ahead on safety." Malathion proved itself deadly to resistant weevils, and to aphids and mites... yet the USDA calls it "one of the safest insecticides to handle."

Malathion is not a trade name. It's available in sprays and dusts made by many well-known manufacturers and comes alone or in combination with other insecticides.

Delta Planters Report

Comments like these on malathion's effectiveness have come from all over the cotton belt: "spectacular control," "best weevil control I've seen in 51 years of farming," "John Spivey, Hamburg, Arkansas planter reported malathion 'killed weevils right where it hit them. Because my acreage is surrounded by woodland and drainage ditches, weevils are a problem every year. That's why any insecticide we use really gets tested. In 1956 I was sick about the control I was getting with chlorinated insecticides. In one field, infestations reached 85 per cent. After switching to malathion we got control fast. It proved itself under the toughest conditions."

Powerful control, speed of kill, and wide safety margin are uniquely combined to make malathion one of the most effective cotton insecticides to come along in many years.

Malathion kills tough weevils, other cotton insects fast.

"One of the safest
insecticides"

That's what the USDA has to say about malathion. Reports from many Carolina cotton farmers show that malathion's low toxicity to man and animals is one of the major reasons for the growing popularity of this new cotton insecticide. Unlike many of the phosphate insecticides, malathion does not require the use of a respirator or cumbersome protective clothing while mixing or applying. "The U. S. Public Health Service reports, "... the toxicities of malathion (oral and through the skin) are less than those of DDT." This is especially important if you have to apply insecticides close to dwellings or work in fields shortly after application.—Adv.

Boll Weevil
was fantastic"

That's just one way Louisiana planters describe malathion's excellent control of resistant weevils

Last year the many planters who used malathion discovered the best weevil control they'd ever seen. George Franklin, who plants 2,000 acres in Hollyridge, had this to say about malathion: "Control of resistant weevils was fantastic. We got faster, higher kills of weevils... whether or not resistant... than with any insecticide we ever used before. Even if malathion only equalled others in control, we'd use it because it's way ahead on safety." Malathion proved itself deadly to resistant weevils, and to aphids and mites... yet the USDA calls it "one of the safest insecticides to handle."

Malathion is not a trade name. It's available in sprays and dusts made by many well-known manufacturers and comes alone or in combination with other insecticides.

Delta Planters Report

Comments like these on malathion's effectiveness have come from all over the cotton belt: "Spectacular control," "best weevil control I've seen in 51 years of farming," John Spivey, Hamburg, Arkansas planter reported malathion "killed weevils right where it hit them. Because my acreage is surrounded by woodland and drainage ditches, weevils are a problem every year. That's why any insecticide we use really gets tested. In 1956 I was sick about the control I was getting with chlorinated insecticides. In one field, infestations reached 85 per cent. After switching to malathion we got control fast. It proved itself under the toughest conditions."

Powerful control, speed of kill, and wide safety margin are uniquely combined to make malathion one of the most effective cotton insecticides to come along in many years.

Malathion kills tough weevils, other cotton insects fast.

"One of the safest
insecticides"

That's what the USDA has to say about malathion. Reports from many Carolina cotton farmers show that malathion's low toxicity to man and animals is one of the major reasons for its growing popularity of this new cotton insecticide. Unlike many of the phosphate insecticides, malathion does not require the use of a respirator or cumbersome protective clothing while mixing or applying. The U. S. Public Health Service reports, "... the toxicities of malathion (oral and through the skin) are less than those of DDT." This is especially important if you have to apply insecticides close to dwellings or work in fields shortly after application.—Adv.

AG SERVICE SAYS

Red Economic Offensive Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Foreign Agricultural Service said Sunday the emerging economic offensive of Soviet-bloc countries appears to be making formidable progress.

In a detailed analysis based on information supplied by U. S. agricultural attaches abroad, the service said U. S. agriculture, with its heavy dependence on foreign markets, is vitally concerned.

The service is a part of the Agriculture Department.

"The immediate purpose of the present campaign is to loosen the economic and political ties of the underdeveloped countries with the United States," the report said.

"The tools of this campaign are trade expansion, economic and technical assistance, exchange of technical and cultural missions, relaxation of travel restrictions and pressures to break down the economic restrictions on the sale of strategic goods and commodities to the Chinese-Soviet orbit."

The longer-term objective was said to be a move to align the foreign policy of the neutralist countries with that of the Soviet bloc and eventually bring them into the fold of the Socialist camp.

The service said that heavily industrialized countries such as Britain and Japan, that must trade to live, are openly vulnerable to such a campaign.

So are less-developed countries, particularly one-crop agricultural countries that need markets not provided by the United States, as well as countries only recently released from colonialism.

It was said to be the Communist hope that underdeveloped areas will become discouraged with the slower moving, more democratic free enterprise system and come to regard the strong, centralized, faster moving Communist system as more favorable.

"In short, the bloc clearly hopes that the less developed countries will see their own image in the Soviet Union and China and will choose to follow it," the report said.

The service said information from abroad indicates that the Soviet Union's industrial progress especially, and China's to lesser developed areas.

"The less-developed areas have had little experience with capitalism and free enterprise, as the West understands them. They lean toward, and in fact have already adopted some form of Socialist approach, with economic planning and the state taking a leading role, as the system best suited to their needs," it said. "They tend to consider the U. S. standard of achievement as beyond their grasp, and think it unrealistic to reach for something they cannot reasonably hope to achieve."

Playground Attendance Said Good

Officials of the Monroe Recreation Department report that attendance at the summer playgrounds last week was fairly good despite a couple of rainy days and said that a total of 3,573 children attended.

A breakdown for each playground is as follows:

Plum Street, 365; Georgia Tucker, 200; Barkdull Park, 267; Sherouse, 305; Lexington, 330; George Breece, 164; Lida Benton, 210; Clarks, 399; Carroll High, 402; Booker T., 329; and Carver Housing, 602.

All playgrounds had a wheel parade and checker tournament. Winners listed were: Lexington, Sheila Clark, Joey Trichel, Kim Suddeth, Steve Betz and William Barnes; Sherouse, Buzz Redding, Johnny Fairbanks, Victor Zagone, Ola Kay, Turnage, Glenda; Grower, Pam; Grower, Gary Lee, Don Guyton, Sharon Roberts, Clifford Worley, Jimmy Fairbanks, Mary Jo Zagone, Mike Ballenger, Janet Brown, and Greg Pierce; Lida Benton, Sandra Brown, Theresa Goodson, Billy Darden, George Bowls, Franklin Smith, Tommy Gardner, Dot Ramin and Charles Loyd; Plum Street, Butch Lee, Pat Ayers, Ann Eppinette, Carol Johnson, Ken Johnson, and John Johnson; George Breece, Wince Bass, Maureen Turner, Gary Gammaway, Joanne Rizzo and Eddie Roys; Barkdull Park, Rose Mary Masters, Sam Corrent, Mary Ann Neill, Eric Gilbeaux, Joan Conti and Harvey Sweet; J. Exhibit Opens At La. Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Paintings showing a variety in media, techniques and subject matter comprise a one-man exhibit opening today in the art gallery of Keeney Hall at Louisiana Tech.

The artist is Rev. John Charles Ford, a native of Choudrant and an art major graduating from Tech in 1950, who for five years has been minister of the Trinity Presbyterian Church in Hot Springs, Ark.

The display room at Tech will be open to the public from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday, for the next two weeks, it was announced by Miss Elizabeth Bethea, head of the art department at the college.

Visitors to the gallery will see painting in oil, water color and in painted relief. In the latter, the head of Adam is especially interesting, Miss Bethea said.

While this is the Rev. Mr. Ford's first exhibit at his Alma Mater in Ruston, he has had several one-man shows in Hot Springs. Many of his paintings hang in private collections and in several public buildings in Arkansas.

The minister is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Leon Ford of Choudrant.

Following his graduation from Tech, he received a theological degree in 1953 from the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Austin, Tex. He was chosen Young Man of the Year at Hot Springs in 1955.

He studies at the Art Students' League in New York last summer and won second prize in the Universal-International "Man of a Thousand Faces" art competition. The winning pictures were hung in the lobby of the Roxy Theater on Broadway.

This summer he is sketching and painting in the Umpqua National Forest in Oregon. He has done considerable portrait painting and is making plans for graduate study in art.

His painting of the "Crucifixion" hangs in the Presbyterian Student Center lobby at the Theological Seminary in Austin.

Negro Man Drowns At Crossett

CROSSETT, Ark., (Special) — A 34-year-old Negro man drowned in an attempt to free an entangled fishing line in a barrow pit near here yesterday afternoon about 2:15.

Ashley County Sheriff A. B. Courson and Dep. Wade Parrott recovered the body identified as that of Willis Johnson, about 3:15 p.m.

Courson said that Warner Canley, Negro, witnessed the fatal incident from the bank of the pit, located two and one-half miles west of the Ouachita River bridge on P. S. Highway 82.

The sheriff said that Canley reported he and Johnson were fishing in the pit when Johnson swam into the water to retrieve his fishing line which was caught in a tree. Canley said Johnson apparently suffered a cramp and went under the water.

According to Courson, Canley said he could not swim and returned to Crossett for help.

The Negro is survived by his widow and three children.

Oil Agreement Is Announced

TEHRAN, Iran, (AP) — A National Iranian Oil Co., spokesman announced Sunday an agreement between NIOC and the Canadian Saphire Oil Co., under which Iran is expected to receive 75 per cent of the net profit.

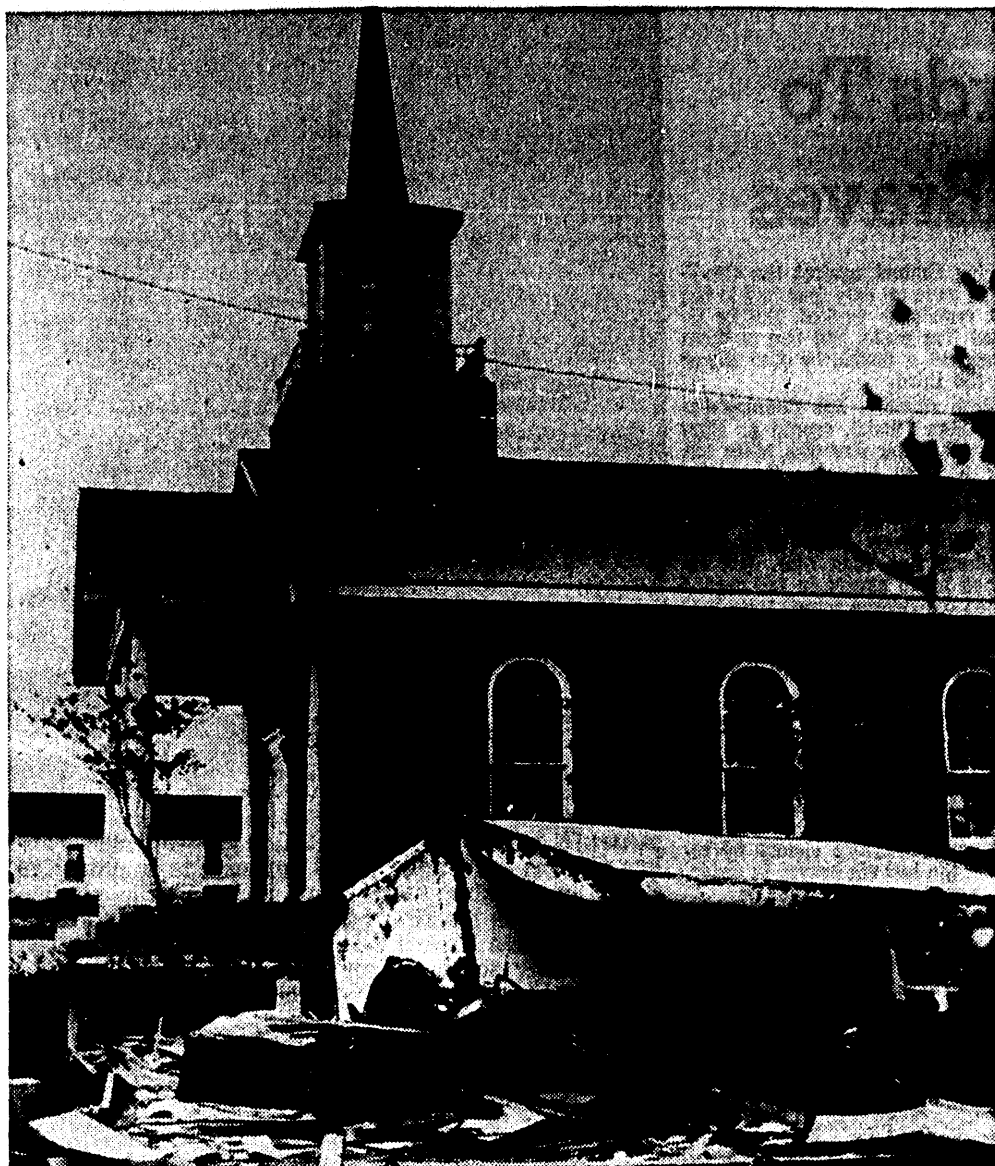

The spokesman said after ratification of the agreement by Parliament, NIOC and Saphire will form a joint nonprofit company called the Iran Canadian Oil Co. The 10,000 - square - kilometer area in which Saphire will operate is off the shores of Oman Gulf between an Italian concession and the British, American, Dutch and French consortium which succeeded the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Previous oil agreements by Iran gave Iran a 50-50 split of the profits in addition to a 25 per cent tax paid by the firms from their share of the profits.

Date Is Set For Reunion

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Simmons - McKaskle reunion at Lone Star in Jackson Parish near Sikes, will be held July 4, as in the past.

Descendants and friends of both families are cordially invited to attend, Mrs. Minnie Fussell of Winnsboro, reports.

Demo, GOP Men Agree On Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democrat and a Republican agreed Sunday that GOP criticism of Sherman Adams has been as harsh as that by Democrats.

In fact, said Rep. Winfield K. Denton (D-Ind.) some Republicans have had a hard time "restraining their glee in finding Adams in this dilemma, since the man has never been popular with the Republican leaders outside the White House."

Denton said in a statement Democrats have been relatively quiet, at least publicly, preferring "to sit back and let the Republican congress go to work." Several Republicans have demanded that Adams resign, despite President Eisenhower's plea that "I need him."

Eisenhower last week pictured Adams as a man of honesty and integrity while lacking somewhat in prudence.

A Republican, Rep. Robert Hale of Maine, defended the integrity of Adams, the No. 1 White House aide, but said GOP critics have been "almost if not quite as numerous as" Democrats.

Hale is a member of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee which heard testimony that Adams received favors from industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

In a transcribed interview for a Maine radio station, Hale said of Adams: "Knowing something about his work in the White House I can readily understand why the President should say with so much emphasis, 'I need him.'"

"Also knowing Mr. Adams as I do, I have complete faith in his integrity. I don't think he can be bought with rugs, overcoats and hotel rooms. This makes it all the more regrettable that he should have been guilty of the imprudence and indiscretion of receiving these gifts."

Denton said "it remains problematic now whether the hue and cry from Republican leaders outside the 'White House circle' can jar" Adams out.

However, Denton said, to allow Adams to go unscathed would "amount to setting up separate standards" for judging the members of the Republican and Democratic parties.

He said that while the Adams case was capturing the headlines "tucked away in the corner of our newspapers were announcements that Matt Connolly was scheduled to start his prison sentence."

Connolly, onetime aide to former President Harry Truman, has been sentenced to two years in prison after being convicted of conspiring to fix an income tax case. Legal moves are in progress that could lead to a new trial.

Maglie Pitches Cards To 2nd Straight Over Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Forty-one-year-old Sal Maglie making his first appearance since being acquired from the New York Yankees a week ago, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to their second straight 2-1 victory over the league-leading Milwaukee Braves Sunday.

The veteran right-hander held the Braves to five hits for seven innings, then was removed for a pinch hitter and Larry Jackson hurled hitless ball the rest of the way.

Joey Jay, 19 years Maglie's junior, suffered the first defeat of his major league career despite a fine performance. The former bonus baby, who had spaced three victories over five seasons and who nine days ago pitched a six-inning shutout against the Cardinals, gave up only four hits in the six rounds he worked. But he issued five walks and two of them preceded a double by Ken Boyer in the third.

Both runners, Joe Cunningham and Stan Musial, scored on Boyer's hit. After Jay was taken out for a pinch hitter in the sixth, Bob Trowbridge finished with three scoreless innings.

Maglie was unusually wild, walking five men also, but escaped harm except in the second when the Braves scored their lone run. Frank Torre singled, Johnny Logan walked and Billy Bruton drove Torre home with another single.

When Maglie showed signs of weariness in the sixth and seventh, Manager Fred Hutchinson sent Irv Noren up to bat for him with two men on base in the eighth. Noren failed but Jackson preserved Maglie's victory by retiring the last six Braves in order.

Indians Win Two 1-Run Decisions

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians won a pair of one-run decisions from the Washington Senators Sunday, 4-3 and 1-0. Minnie Miñoso homered in each game, providing the lone run in Jim "Mudcat" Grant's six-hit shutout in the second contest.

Grant, notching his sixth victory in 10 decisions, retired the last 12 men in order after yielding a single to Roy Sievers in the sixth inning. It was the rookie right-hander's first shutout in the major leagues.

Minors's 11th home run in the sixth inning of the nightcap ruined a fine pitching performance by Washington's Hal Griggs. He permitted the Indians only four hits.

Cleveland snapped a four-game losing spell in the opener, coming from behind with three runs in the fifth inning off loser Chuck Stobbs. Vic Power's two-run single and Woody Held's sacrifice fly were the key blows.

Washington had scored a run in the first frame off Ray Narleski, who won his ninth game against five losses. Minors evened it in Cleveland's half of the first with a home run against the upper left field deck.

Washington regained the lead in the second on Jim Lemon's 11th homer in the second inning. The Indians took the advantage with the three-run outburst and held it the rest of the way.

Narleski needed relief from Don Mossi in the eighth inning and the slim southpaw set the last four Senators down easily, striking out the side in the ninth inning.

The double defeat dropped Washington into last place.

Kirkland's Blast Wins For Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Willie came home on a bad throw by Kirkland, up from the minor leagues since Saturday, slammed a 14th inning home and gave the San Francisco Giants a 5-4 win over Philadelphia Sunday in the opener of a doubleheader. The second game was halted by a curfew with the Giants ahead 1-0 in the sixth innings.

Kirkland accounted for the lone San Francisco score in the second game. He walked, went to third on a single by Willie Mays, and

Red Tape Worse Than Mile Mark

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Breaking the 4-minute mile barrier is a lot easier for Australia's Herb Elliott than breaking the red tape of the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

The brilliant young Aussie slipped under John Landy's world record of 3:58 for the second time in the AAU championships Saturday night, but still may not get credit for a new mark.

Elliott ran 3:57.9 and the international rules makers count time in fifths of seconds, instead of 10ths in races over 1,000 yards. That means Elliott's time would be officially regarded as 3:58, making him a co-record holder with his countryman.

Some track experts here for the meet said a move is underway to have the IAAF reckon time in 10ths of seconds, so that Elliott still might have his feat formally recognized.

Ted Kroll Bounces Bolt From Lead In Flint Open

By DAVE DILES
FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Little Ted Kroll bounced U.S. Open champion Tommy Bolt out of the lead Sunday after 54 holes of the $52,000 Flint Open Golf Tournament.

Kroll, a much decorated war hero from Sarasota, Fla., fired a blazing 3-under-par 69 in the third round. His three day total of 211 earned him a two-stroke advantage over Bolt and former National Open titlist, Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich.

Bolt, who led last week's Open all four rounds and this tournament through the halfway mark, equalled par 72 for the second day in a row. Fleck, who defeated Ben Hogan in a dramatic 1955 U.S. Open dogfight, had a 69.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., and Bill Casper Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., deadlocked one stroke behind Fleck and Bolt with 214 totals.

The 39-year-old Kroll, who has not won a tournament since he captured the "world" event in 1956, never once went over par. He had one birdie on the front nine and two on the back, finishing with a six-foot birdie putt on the 18th green, while the crowd looked on.

The tightly bunched field will play a showdown 18 holes Monday. A host of golfers are within striking distance of Kroll.

Bob Rosburg, of Palo Alto, Calif., who started Sunday two strokes off the pace, had a 73 and had to set a course record to get it. After a disastrous 41 going out, the pudgy Rosburg sailed home in a record shattering 32. He is all alone at 216 — five strokes off the pace.

Last year's champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., had a 70

SC's Olmedo Beats Douglas For Net Title

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Alex Olmedo, Southern California's Peruvian tennis ace, turned back Stanford's giant-killing Jack Douglas in four sets Sunday and won his second National Collegiate tennis championship. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

His victory also clinched the team championship for the powerful Trojans, who now have won the NCAA-sponsored event four times. Their last victory was in 1955.

Olmedo, three-time Pacific Coast Conference champion, found Douglas tough to handle although he had beaten him twice on the west coast this year.

Douglas, 5-10, 160-pound Stanford football quarterback, bounced back quickly after Olmedo had taken the first set. He broke Olmedo's powerful serve on three occasions to take the second set.

But the 22-year-old native of Arequipa, Peru, seeded second went ahead 3-2 after a service break in the third set and was never caught.

A three-stride victory over fellow Australian Merv Lincoln.

Elliott thought he should have kept closer to the early pace set by California's Don Bowden and Oklahoma's Gail Hodgson. But said he felt weak, and couldn't make it. The pace was not exceptionally fast, and at the end of three laps, the time was 3:03.8 and no record appeared possible.

On the final lap Elliott and Lincoln moved ahead side by side and waged a blistering duel for the final 300 yards with Elliott holding his narrow advantage all the way Lincoln was timed in 3:58.5.

Elliott's coach, Percy Cerutti, also thought his young charge was a bit off form.

"Herb hasn't been feeling at all well," he said. "I think it's just lethargy caused by being too far from home too long."

Yankees Snap Tiger Jinx With Easy 15-0 Decision

By JERRY GREEN
DETROIT (AP)—The New York Yankees scored six runs in the first and eighth innings Sunday to drive the Detroit Tigers to a 15-0 victory.

Yankees were able to beat Detroit 15-0. Larsen got heavy support from his teammates as they pounded five Tiger pitchers for 16 hits. Gil McDougald had two doubles and a pair of singles. Tony Kubek singled three times, and Elston

Howard had a two-run homer in the eighth and a double. It was the Yankees' biggest run production of the season. The tall Yankee right-hander was brilliant in beating the Tigers for the first time since Sept. 14, 1956, shortly before his World Series perfect game.

Billy Martin nipped him for a line drive single in the second. Then he retired the next 16 Tiger batters before Gail Harris singled in the seventh.

The Yankees had scored only one run in 37 innings and seven in six games off Tiger pitching before the game.

But they put Detroit starter Billy Hoelt to rout in the first inning before 46,000 fans. Two of their six runs were unearned as the Tiger defense fell apart with three errors in the first inning.

Hoelt booted Hank Bauer's lead-off bouncer. Then he dug himself deeper by granting McDougald a single, walking two batters and hitting another before ex-Yankee Tom Morgan relieved him with the score 2-0.

Morgan failed to retire a batter. Andy Carey hit a two-run double and Kubek followed with a run-scoring single.

Larsen sent the final run of the frame home with a double before rookie Herb Moford came on.

Moford pitched shutout ball until the eighth when New York scored six times.

Lopez Stars As A's Beat Bosox

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Hector Lopez made a sensational one-handed catch of a Jackie Jensen drive that threatened to score a Boston run, then singled in the tally that gave Kansas City a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox Sunday.

Pete Runnels, who had doubled to center, was on third base with two out when Lopez made his saving catch in the top of the eighth.

His run-scoring single came in the bottom of the same inning, also with two out. Preston Ward, who had singled to right and advanced to second on Bob Cerv's single to center, scampered home as Lopez hit to center.

The Athletics also scored on Roger Maris' home run over the right field fence in the first inning—his 10th round-tripper but his first to the A's since coming to Kansas City from Cleveland in a trade last Sunday.

Boston's lone tally was on Pete Runnels' homer over the right field fence in the fourth inning. It was Runnels' second.

The game got under way more than half an hour late, delayed by rain and a tornado scare. A tornado was observed near Municipal Stadium at game time and the cloud passed over the ball park, but the twister did not touch ground.

Jack Urban went all the way for the Athletics and turned in his top performance of the season to gain his sixth triumph against four losses. Urban gave up seven hits and pitched his way out of jams in the fifth, sixth and eighth innings.

Tom Brewer, now 3-6, was the loser. The victory gave the A's a sweep of the three-game series.

Cubs Split Pair With Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 13-hit attack marked by a pair of three-run rallies helped Chicago's Cubs outslug Cincinnati's Redlegs, 8-6, Sunday and split a doubleheader.

The Reds, who still managed to squeeze into the National League's third place, had powered their way to a 6-2 victory in the opener aided by Gus Bell's fifth grand slam home run as a major leaguer.

The Cubs roughed up reliever Hal Jeffcoat for four hits and three runs in the decisive ninth and squelched a Cincinnati rally to end the nightcap.

Jeffcoat, who had clinched the opener in relief, was first tagged for a run on Sam Taylor's double and Chuck Tanner's pinch hit single.

Tony Taylor beat out a bunt and Alvin Dark doubled both men home.

Redleg outfielder Frankie Robinson whacked his eighth homer of the year in the ninth, but reliever Don Elston bore down and got the next three men on easy outs.

Local Legion Team Engages Rayville Here

Danny Perkins will hurl for Monroe's Legion baseballers tonight in a 7:45 p.m. contest against last place Rayville in Legion Stadium.

The local Legion Juniors, the defending state champions, will be looking for their 7th straight triumph of the year. Monroe leads the fifth district standings by one game.

Red Sims' charges take the road Wednesday for an important tilt with third-place Columbia, 5-2 for the year.

Championship Match Heads Kallio's Card

New Orleans bruiser Al Massey gets a quick response to his challenge to the winner of last week's Christy bout as he meets wrestling champion, in a title match tonight at Kallio's Arena.

Boxing takes the Arena spotlight tomorrow night when Irish Johnny McKoin meets Al Boudreaux in a 10-rounder that heads a five match card.

The Crescent City badman issued his challenge during an intermission of last week's main event. Jerry Christy went on to win the bout and promptly accepted a title bout with the mat desperado. The two will fight over a 90-minute or less route with two falls to win.

A four-man tag match claims semi-final billing on the card with two wrestlers new to Monroe fans to take part. Bill Strong of Miami George Curtis against newcomer Tommy Todd of Charlotte, North Carolina and Charley Layne. This bout will have a 45-minute limit with two falls to win.

Jack Nicklaus Tops Norville For Golf Title

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Richard Norville of Oklahoma City 9 and 8 Sunday for the championship of the Trans-Mississippi Amateur Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, 18, a freshman at Ohio State University, was 3 over par for the 28 holes. The site of the tournament was the par 35-35-70 Prairie Dunes Country Club course.

Nicklaus, cocky and confident, had five birdies while Norville failed to get under par. He also parred six holes on which Norville was one over, shooting even par on the last 20 holes.

Nicklaus was in trouble on only one hole—the par 4 No. 5, where he shot a six. He won that hole with a par 4 on the second time around, however.

Nicklaus, considered a good Walker Cup prospect, said he would take part next in the Rubber City Open Golf Tournament at Akron, Ohio, starting July 3.

Billy O'Dell Hurls Orioles Over Pale Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Southpaw Billy "Digger" O'Dell turned the tables on the Chicago White Sox Sunday by shutting them out on six hits for a 2-0 Baltimore victory.

The Sox, who had enjoyed five shutouts in a string of seven games, couldn't muster a serious threat against O'Dell as he scored his eighth victory against seven losses.

The victory was Baltimore's first against Chicago after nine straight losses.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W
One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Malraux At Last Finds Revolution

PARIS (AP)—Andre Malraux, explorer, resistance fighter, revolutionary, and one of France's most brilliant intellectuals, at last has found a revolution in his own country.

Malraux is the official spokesman for Gen. de Gaulle's new government, which hopes to undertake revolutionary reforms of the French constitutional system. He has an incredible background.

By the time he was 23, Malraux had found in southeast Asian jungles, statues of a vanished civilization dating from the 9th to the 15th century.

Since then, he's been in two phases of the Chinese revolution, fought against Franco in the Spanish Civil War, edited a left-wing newspaper in Indochina, became a resistance leader against the Germans in France, and served as a cabinet member in De Gaulle's first postwar government.

Now, De Gaulle expects to create a system in France giving the executive something of the power of an American president—perhaps more. The National Assembly will retain a certain supervisory or checking power, but not the veto it has exercised for so long.

Although the 56-year-old Malraux is no constitutional technician and has retained his long-standing contempt for politicians, when the fight to get De Gaulle's constitutional amendments adopted erupts, he will be one of the Premier's major assets because of his magnetic way with crowds.

His grasping, clawing gestures are effective. The nervous facial tick that bothers him in conversation seems to vanish when he addresses a crowd.

Malraux in action is spectacular to behold. He walked into a press room recently with a sheaf of scribbled notes and began talking so fast and with such strange phrases even his compatriots couldn't follow him.

He's metaphysical," a French correspondent said in a cryptic aside. I followed Malraux down the corridor after the news conference and asked him for an interview.

He was the peak of politeness, and practical.

"Talk to Mademoiselle Friant who will give you a lot of incidental matter, then will fix up an appointment with me. When would you like it?"

Mlle. Friant, small, slender, graceful as a Chinese jade figurine, confessed:

"I can't understand him either, not always. I simply tell him 'I don't understand what you want.' Then he repeats what he wants. He is very gay and pleasant with the staff."

Next day he was equally amiable and practical.

"Bonjour, monsieur. Now we can talk more at leisure. Ask questions."

He is a strange man in many respects. He is a fascinating conversationalist—or rather, a man given to monologue, for his ideas while talking come too fast for ordinary conversation.

He has large eyes, gray-green, and his forehead is brushed by a sweeping lock of dark hair. His prominent nose, sharply cut, seems to plow upward, leaving a series of V-shaped shock waves running downward across his pale face.

"I live very intensely," he says. "When I'm writing, I work 11 to 13 hours a day. That leaves no time for other things."

ACCEPT GUILT

HOUSTON (UPI)—Five of six defendants in a Cuban firearms cache case will accept the judgment of the court in their case without admitting their guilt. Federal Judge Allan Hannay said he would fix their sentence in Houston July 11.

Two Missing Teen-Agers Are Found

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — A blonde and beautiful New Jersey high school girl and her teen-aged boy friend, missing since June 11, were found Sunday registered as man and wife in a Petersburg hotel.

Hours later, after a tearful farewell, Helen Jones, 16, of Kearny, N.J. and David Horne, 17, of East Orange, were taken in tow by their outraged parents and headed for home.

When found by police before dawn Sunday, the young couple had 20 cents between them. It was all that was left of $100 which they said they took with them when they ran away 11 days ago.

"We love each other," they told authorities. But they said they hadn't been able to get married, as planned, because of their youth. They had been at the hotel 10 days.

Since their arrival, Horne had been unable to find employment. Miss Jones had been working for two days at a local bus terminal but had not been paid.

A picture of the girl on the front page of a New York newspaper led to the apprehension of the youngsters at 3:15 a.m. by Police Capt. W. H. Stewart, who took them to the detention home and notified their parents.

Parents of the two indicated strongly they will disapprove of the marriage of the young couple.

Miss Jones' father, Francis Jones, an adviser for an Explorer Scout unit of which Horne is a member, was livid with rage when he faced the boy at the detention home.

"If you ever put yourself in town — Kearny — again, I will not be responsible for what I do," he told Horne.

Jones and his wife then took their daughter and left by car for Kearny — but not before the girl gave young Horne a final embrace and a kiss and whispered something she wouldn't say what — into his ear. Both wept when they parted.

Ten minutes after the Joneses left town, Horne's mother, Mrs. W. H. Price of East Orange, arrived to take custody of the runaway boy. She and the Joneses did not meet.

Horne told newsmen he and the Jones girl left Kearny June 11, took a train from Newark to Philadelphia, then rode a bus from Philadelphia to Richmond and another from Richmond to Petersburg.

He said they chose Petersburg because his stepfather, Capt. W. H. Price, an Army officer now stationed in the Caribbean area, had been stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., near here, in 1955. During the spring of that year, Horne said, he had attended Prince George High School here.

Horne said he and the Jones girl, a high school junior at Kearny, had been going together a little over a year and had met three years ago.

Since their disappearance they had been objects of a 13-state police search.

Blondes Have It In Germany

BADEN - BADEN, Germany (AP) — In the eyes of German beauty contest judges, the blondes have it.

To succeed blonde Gertrude Daub as Miss Germany, Sunday they picked blonde Marlies Behrens of Garmisch-Partenkirchen. The second place winner also was a blonde, although brunettes contestants outnumbered their fairer opponents 9 to 5.

Her recorded measurements: height 5 feet 7, bust 38½, waist 22, hips 36.

BLACKBERRIES OVERBOARD — Blackberry growers are shown dumping crates of the fruit into the North Canadian River near McLand, Okla. after failing to get what they termed a satisfactory price from processors. The farmers said they were offered $3.50 per crate and needed $4 to break even. (AP Wirephoto)

OSCAR LEVANT

Cancellation Of Program Short

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The cancellation of Oscar Levant's local television program was short-lived. The caustic pianist-wit is scheduled to return to the air Monday night.

The uninhibited Levant and Alvin G. Flanagan, general manager of KCOP, Channel 13, announced Sunday they had reconciled their problems and will try it again.

Services For Rester Held At Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Funeral services were held here Sunday for J. Harvey Rester, the state's top budget officer who served under five governors.

The 65-year-old Rester, whose title was Louisiana Commissioner of Administration, died of a heart attack Saturday while engaged in his favorite hobby — backyard gardening.

Gov. Earl Long, who was an honorary pallbearer, attended the services at a funeral home. Former state auditor, Allison Kolb who was another honorary pallbearer, also attended the services.

Burial was in Ponemah Cemetery. Rester was a native of Picayune, Miss., and lived here for 10 years, serving as auditor for the Bogalusa Paper Company which later became a division of the Gaylord Container Corp. He left Bogalusa in 1927 for Baton Rouge.

Rester served during both of Earl Long's terms as governor and held office during the administration of Sam Jones, Jimmie Davis and Robert Kennon. Jones and Kennon were among the other honorary pallbearers today, along with Lt. Gov. Luther Frazier, State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, Revenue Collector James Rely and Supervisor of Public Funds J. P. Lancaster.

Survivors include his widow: two sons, Dr. J. Harvey Rester Jr., Lake Worth, Fla., and Gerald Haddonfield, N. J.; a daughter, Mrs. James Douglas, Pensacola, Fla.; four brothers and two sisters, including Robert Rester of Bogalusa, Travis Rester of Mobile, Ala., Otha Rester of Picayune, La., and H. C. Rester of Spring Hill, La., and Mrs. R. W. Lee and Mrs. Etha Lee, both of Picayune.

Special Vote In Franklin Is Considered

BATON ROUGE (Staff Special) — Gov. Earl K. Long has taken a request to call a special election in Franklin Parish for the vacant seat in the house under consideration.

Sen. Ralph E. King, Winnboro, said the governor told him late Sunday afternoon that he may make a decision "within the next three or four days."

Dr. King and Long attended the funeral of J. Harvey Rester, state budget officer who died Saturday of a heart attack.

The vacancy in the house was created by the death of Rep. Walter Chachere of Crowley who died three weeks ago of a heart attack. The Franklin Parish Executive Democratic Committee last Friday filed a request to Long for a special election.

Most Trusted Missiles Can Be Beasts

VILSECK, Germany (UPI) — Even the most trusted American missiles can be very temperamental beasts, as a frustrated U.S. Army unit has just unapologetically demonstrated to an international audience.

Just when you want them to do their best in a show of military might, the missiles can fail to perform at all. Usually it is because some small, sensitive part went haywire.

Three times on this occasion an Honest John rocket battery was ordered to fire. Three times the loudspeaker announced the missile soon would be on its super-audacious way to the target.

Nothing Happened! Three times nothing happened. The rocket failed to leave its launcher some 10 miles away because of a nagging problem in the electrical circuits.

After the third misfire, the artillery outfit called off the whole thing and carted disappointed observers from the French War College, West German army and American press over the dust-laden road from the firing range to Vilseck.

Vilseck lies about 35 air miles west of the Iron Curtain and 40 miles east of Nurnberg. Between here and Garmisch-Wehrhahn, in the north is an 89-square-mile training area, desolate countryside where U.S. Army atomic artillerymen and tank outfits constantly sharpen their weapons and wits.

They Saw Enough Some of Gen. Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps troops trained here in World War II, as did the Panzer brigade that fought in the Battle of the Bulge. Maybe there were veterans of those actions in the audience which witnessed the army's embarrassment at the Honest John's stubbornness.

But despite the failure of the rocket launching which was to have capped the show—a failure which emphasized that the missile age is still new—observers saw enough to know the U.S. Army is ready with a lethal nuclear punch in this part of the world.

Russia should move against Western Europe in a land assault, it would have to reckon with the counter blast that would come from six battalions of 75-mile Corporal guided missiles, nine batteries of 15 to 20-mile free-flight Honest John rockets and 36 atomic cannon with a 19-mile range. There are 84 launchers of nuclear weapons in these units.

There are also numbers of eight-inch guns here but for some inexplicable reason the Army in Europe does not acknowledge that these guns can fire an atomic shell.

"I went there myself and gave them one minute to get out," Chadwell said. "They left."

Chadwell said he would call a city commission meeting and also would talk to individual Negro leaders.

William H. Miller, a spokesman for the Negroes, said they want only a place to swim and do not want an integrated beach.

Miller said the group used one end of the beach and did not attempt to mingle with white bathers.

He said the city commission has repeatedly turned down Negro requests for a beach of their own and also has rejected a Delray Beach suggestion that both communities jointly establish a beach for Negroes.

Anniversary Of Hitler Invasion

MOSCOW (AP)—Sunday was the 17th anniversary of Hitler's invasion of Russia in 1941. The Soviet press marked the day by renewing old charges that Britain and the United States financed Hitler's invasion and by warning against a new war by Western imperialists.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said bosses of the United States and Britain spent tens of billions of dollars arming the Hitlerite hordes for the invasion of the Soviet Union.

"Imperialist powers," Red Star continued, again are banking on German militarism, delivering atomic weapons to West Germany building atomic and missile bases around Russia and trying "to kindle the flames of war in Lebanon, Indonesia and other countries of the East."

Two Missing Teen-Agers Are Found

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — A blonde and beautiful New Jersey high school girl and her teen-aged boy friend, missing since June 11, were found Sunday registered as man and wife in a Petersburg hotel.

Hours later, after a tearful farewell, Helen Jones, 16, of Kearny, N.J. and David Horne, 17, of East Orange, were taken in tow by their outraged parents and headed for home.

When found by police before dawn Sunday, the young couple had 20 cents between them. It was all that was left of $100 which they said they took with them when they ran away 11 days ago.

"We love each other," they told authorities. But they said they hadn't been able to get married, as planned, because of their youth. They had been at the hotel 10 days.

Since their arrival, Horne had been unable to find employment. Miss Jones had been working for two days at a local bus terminal but had not been paid.

A picture of the girl on the front page of a New York newspaper led to the apprehension of the youngsters at 3:15 a.m. by Police Capt. W. H. Stewart, who took them to the detention home and notified their parents.

Parents of the two indicated strongly they will disapprove of the marriage of the young couple. Miss Jones' father, Francis Jones, an adviser for an Explorer Scout unit of which Horne is a member, was livid with rage when he faced the boy at the detention home.

"If you ever put yourself in town —Kearny—again, I will not be responsible for what I do," he told Horne.

Jones and his wife then took their daughter and left by car for Kearny—but not before the girl gave young Horne a final embrace and a kiss and whispered something—she wouldn't say what—into his ear. Both wept when they parted.

Ten minutes after the Joneses left town, Horne's mother, Mrs. W. H. Price of East Orange, arrived to take custody of the runaway boy. She and the Joneses did not meet.

Horne told newsmen he and the Jones girl left Kearny June 11, took a train from Newark to Philadelphia, then rode a bus from Philadelphia to Richmond and another from Richmond to Petersburg.

He said they chose Petersburg because his stepfather, Capt. W. H. Price, an Army officer now stationed in the Caribbean area, had been stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., near here, in 1955. During the spring of that year, Horne said, he had attended Prince George High School here.

Horne said he and the Jones girl, a high school junior at Kearny, had been going together a little over a year and had met three years ago.

Since their disappearance they had been objects of a 13-state police search.

Blondes Have It In Germany

BADEN - BADEN, Germany (AP)—In the eyes of German beauty contest judges, the blondes have it.

To succeed blonde Gertie Daub as Miss Germany, Sunday they picked blonde Marlies Behrens of Garmisch - Partenkirchen. The second place winner also was a blonde, although brunette contestants outnumbered their fairer opponents 9 to 5.

Her recorded measurements: height 5 feet 7, bust 38½, waist 22, hips 36.

BLACKBERRIES OVERBOARD — Blackberry growers are shown dumping crates of the fruit into the North Canadian River near McLand, Okla. after failing to get what they termed a satisfactory price from processors. OSCAR LEVANT

Cancellation Of Program Short

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The cancellation of Oscar Levant's local television program was short-lived. The caustic pianist-wit is scheduled to return to the air Monday night.

The uninhibited Levant and Alvin G. Flanagan, general manager of KCOP, Channel 13, announced Sunday they had reconciled their problems and will try it again.

Flanagan said Saturday Oscar had been suspended indefinitely for "inexcusable conduct on the air" Friday night in making uncomplimentary remarks about one of his sponsors and two rival television stations.

Levant said he was about to consummate a "wonderful deal with wonderful people" to take his show to another channel when "Flanagan sent word he wants me back tomorrow."

No flower to blush unseen—or unheard—Oscar had described his show as the "best in television history," compounded by himself without writers.

He had lamented his suspension as a "terrible blow to the station, to the community" and to his audience, which he called the "most wonderful, most intellectual and most loyal in TV history."

Asked why he had decided to return to KCOP instead of moving to another channel, the unpredictable pianist, commented: "They would have gone into an inevitable decline and then obscurity. I couldn't stand that."

"I take humiliation like a Hindu. I have an order with a tailor for a loin cloth and I shall appear tomorrow night like Gandhi—if my hips will hold up the loin cloth."

A station spokesman said he was uncertain whether the offended sponsor — Philco—would resume with Levant's 85-minute shows, aired Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Oscar said he will do "everything I can to restore good relations" with the sponsor, whose television sets he urged his audience not to buy during the show that caused the commotion.

Negro Group

Ordered Away From Beach

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A group of Negroes took a dip Sunday at a beach previously used only by white bathers. Mayor L. S. Chadwell ordered them away, and closed the beach indefinitely.

No violence was reported. Chadwell said white bathers left the beach at police request but "30 or 40" Negroes, bathing at one end of the strip, ignored the request.

"I went there myself and gave them one minute to get out," Chadwell said. "They left."

Chadwell said he would call a city commission meeting and also would talk to individual Negro leaders.

William H. Miller, a spokesman for the Negroes, said they want only a place to swim and do not want an integrated beach.

Miller said the group used one end of the beach and did not attempt to mingle with white bathers.

He said the city commission has repeatedly turned down Negro requests for a beach of their own and also has rejected a Delray Beach suggestion that both communities jointly establish a beach for Negroes.

Most Trusted Missiles Can Be Beasts

VILSECK, Germany (UPI) — Even the most trusted American missiles can be very temperamental beasts, as a frustrated U.S. Army unit has just unapologetically demonstrated to an international audience.

Just when you want them to do their best in a show of military might, the missiles can fail to perform at all. Usually it is because some small, sensitive part went haywire.

Three times on this occasion an Honest John rocket battery was ordered to fire. Three times the loudspeaker announced the missile soon would be on its super-sonic way to the target a scant mile from the expectant observers. It was carrying a practice concrete warhead instead of its wartime atomic explosive.

Nothing Happened! Three times nothing happened. The rocket failed to leave its launcher some 10 miles away because of a nagging problem in the electrical circuits.

After the third misfire, the artillery outfit called off the whole thing and carted disappointed observers from the French War College, West German army and American press over the dust-laden road from the firing range to Vilseck.

Vilseck lies about 35 air miles west of the Iron Curtain and 40 miles east of Nurnberg. Between here and Grafenwoehr to the north is an 89-square-mile training area, desolate countryside where U.S. Army atomic artillerymen and tank outfits constantly sharpen their weapons and wits.

They Saw Enough Some of Gen. Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps troops trained here in World War II, as did the Panzer brigade that fought in the Battle of the Bulge. Maybe there were veterans of those actions in the audience which witnessed the army's embarrassment at the Honest John's stubbornness.

But despite the failure of the rocket launching which was to have capped the show—a failure which emphasized that the missile age is still new—observers saw enough to know the U.S. Army is ready with a lethal nuclear punch in this part of the world.

If Russia should move against Western Europe in a land assault, it would have to reckon with the counter blast that would come from six battalions of 75 - mile Corporal guided missiles, nine batteries of 15 to 20-mile free-flight Honest John rockets and 36 atomic cannon with a 19-mile range. There are 84 launchers of nuclear weapons in these units.

There are also numbers of eight-inch guns here but for some inexplicable reason the Army in Europe does not acknowledge that these guns can fire an atomic shell.

Cold Records

Set On 2nd Day Of Summer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several sections of the nation shivered Sunday on the second day of summer. A few cold records were set.

The temperature dipped to 33 degrees at Brookville, Pa., as cool air set up a clearing trend across the northern and central Appalachians, pushing rain to coastal sections from Maine to Virginia.

Readings of 45 degrees in Cleveland and Pittsburgh were the lowest on record in those cities for June 22.

Dry, 50-degree weather settled over the mid Mississippi and Ohio valleys during the night and light, northerly winds pushed into the Gulf states. Temperatures were in

Arrest Negro

In Connection

With Killings

SPRINGVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Police arrested a 27-year-old Negro Sunday in connection with two ax murders and a rape of a white woman at Bonifay, Fla.

Frank Peterson was taken into custody at a farm where he had been working the past few days.

State police Sgt. Richard Walter said Peterson was picked up on information telegraphed from Florida police. Peterson was charged with murder in a warrant issued at Bonifay yesterday.

At his arraignment, Peterson denied any knowledge of the crimes. He was ordered held in jail to await arrival of Florida authorities.

Ira Gene Carnley, 26, and his 2-year-old daughter, Ernestine, were beaten fatally with an ax at their farm home near Bonifay June 11.

His wife, 21, was beaten, along with a son, Hershall, 6, and another daughter, Geraldine, 5.

Mrs. Carnley told Florida police she awakened to find her husband dead. She said a Negro man raped and beat her and beat the children when they tried to help her.

Seven-Inch

Rainfall Hits

Lower Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Rains up to almost 7 inches swamped wide sections of lower Texas Sunday. They were touched off by an invasion of cold air.

The U. S. Weather Bureau issued flash flood warnings for streams in the rough hill country west and northwest of San Antonio. This is the area where cloud-bursts up to 20.1 inches last week halted highway travel and knocked out communications.

A steady downpour produced 4.50 inches of rain in sections of San Antonio. High water stopped traffic on a number of streets.

Orange, in extreme southeast Texas, had 6.52 inches.

A squall line shortly before Saturday midnight raked Lufkin in east Texas with 45 m.p.h. winds. Telephone and electric services were knocked out for a time, and an inch of rain fell.

The Temple-Killeen section below Waco in central Texas had 3 to 5 inches.

The cold air mass, which dropped overnight temperatures into the 50s in the Panhandle, spawned a tornado in north Texas. The twister swirled down on the Garza-Little Elm Lake to become a water spout that caused no damage. Rainfall measured 3.4 inches.
